

For some reason James Pears and his father Giles Pears started spelling their name "Pierce" about the time of the American Revolution. James continued that in New York. He seems to have prospered there, ~~both~~ both in the fertile Schoharie valley and in Seneca, ~~Co.~~ Cazenovia Co NY sometime after 1810. (according to the census).

PEARCE FAMILY

This binder includes our Pearce lineage (Pearce Genealogy plus Little Compton RI series by Wilbur). Much more data is included - censuses, microfilm wills, etc. Please do not throw any of it out, for it is necessary to prove we descend from our grandfather Giles Pearce who, at age 56, fought in the Revolutionary War. His residence was at Trinton RI, ~~bordering~~ bordering Little Compton. During the war, the British occupied RI for 3 years, causing much havoc - Trinton was the densest area of all. His son James, our ancestor, married Phoebe Wood, daughter of Lt. George Wood, a Revolutionary War officer. The couple was living in Elliptic Co, NY - 1790 census. (That county history says many RI residents fled there during the war. That is where ~~was~~ their daughter, Lydia W. Pearce (who married Rev. Dwight Dodge) was born. They moved to Kingston NY in the 1850's.

All Lydia's ancestral families are in other binders (including the Wood family - there was much intermarriage (including Wood descent through her to us - of Newborn ancestry - this data will be added to prove that).

MAYFLOWER LINE

Our ancestress, Mrs. Lydia (Pearce) Dodge lived out her later life in the new settlement of Kingston, Missouri, having migrated there from New York State Finger Lakes region.

(55) She was daughter of James and Phoebe (Wood) Pearce of Little Compton, Rhode Island. Her grandfather, Private Giles Pearce, was nearly 55 years old when he fought in the Revolutionary War. in 1778, at a time while the English Army had occupied the state. Her maternal grandfather, Lt. George Wood, also fought in that war, and it was under his service that this writer joined the Daughters of the American Revolution, as an honor to him, though later I claimed for Giles as well.

Our Lydia was a Mayflower descendant, and it would be fairly easy to join the Mayflower Society using her lineage. She had two lines through the Woods. At first I considered joining an all-mother line through her great grandmother, Desire (Cushman?) Kent, whose mother was Ruth Howland, according to many books. (Elizabeth Tilley m. John Howland.) But Mayflower lineage books no longer contain that line.

There is another Wood line that would be a snap to prove, though it is not an all-mother line. Phoebe (Woods) Pearce's grandfather Samuel Gray Sr. married Deborah Church, whose great grandfather was Richard Warren of the Mayflower.

Ancestry of Lydia Pearce (1802-1881)

We are so very lucky to have a copy of a photo of Grandma's grandmother, born Lydia Pearce. It was taken right after the Civil War. Though there had been experiments long before, practical photos of war scenes ^{were first} ~~most~~ soon faced. The process was lengthy. Lydia had to keep very still as she posed several minutes during the tedious process - thus the stare. Her lame squareroaked husband's cane hardly shows - His image did not last as long as hers. Both of them had passed away before George Eastman developed the first practical camera in 1884. Lydia's pretty bonnet and other clothing were typical back then.

Square needed

Lydia is very special. Through her ^{and her mother} we have ^{five} four Mayflower ancestors - Robert Cushman, Richard Warren Isaac Allerton, John Howland and Elizabeth Tilly.

This last line is special, for it passes through the female (mothers) line in every generation. Should my great-granddaughter Elise Green wish to do so she could join the Mayflower Society through that line. I joined Daughters of the American Revolution through Lydia's grandfather, Lt George Wood, and later a supplement through her other grandfather Giles Pearce who served from Tintin, Rhode Island as a private aged 56!

Of all the colonies during the Revolution, tiny Rhode Island suffered most. It was a strategic harbor, and many thousands of British soldiers and sailors came through or remained. Little Conan ^{where} the Woods family lived had a sloping shore but ^{adjoining} Tiverton ^{where} the Peeres lived was thick with ^{enemies} who ate ~~the~~ the crops and cut down most of the ~~new~~ trees, destroying the area. After the British went to New York, the French fleet moved in - nominal allies but accomplished little until they blockaded ^{General} Cornwallis at Yorktown in 1783 leading to the war's end.

Probably Lydia's father, James Peere, fought in the war, but if so I did not discover it. Rhode Islanders fought long and hard in most every colony, often years on end. Without detail, several books say ^{Rhode Island} soldiers fought in Schenectady New York. Did James Peere fight there? If not, close friends did, for the 1790 Federal Census shows the family there, and again in 1800, next door to Lydia's maternal aunt, Lydia (Woods) Seaberg (Mrs. David).

Our Lydia was probably named for that aunt - she was born there in 1802, the 8th child.

More will be told later,

 The Pearce came to Rhode Island from Wattham Abbey, Essex.
 Susanna (Wright) Pearce's grandfather, Ralph Dale,

Mary (Dell) Wright and her husband both died before her father, Ralph Dell. Whether she ever had brothers and sisters is unknown. If so, they and their children must have been dead by 1646. Regarded to no other grandchildren, though he mentioned other relatives including children of his brother John, one of whose sons, George Dell, appears to have been a wealthy mariner, was part owner of the ships "Good Fortune" and "Starre." He settled in Boston. Ralph Dell's second wife, Elizabeth Bright evidently came from a well-fixed family. Her will, proved August 1657, left bequests to her own relatives (evidently she had no children) including her nephew, Henry Bright of Waltham, Massachusetts. Wish we knew the name of our ancestor, the first wife, and whether she had relatives, other than Susanna (Wright) Pearce and her children, in New England.

PEARCE

The genealogy of the family by Colonel Frederick C. Pierce (1888) lists Richard¹ Pearce, who was living on Prudence Island in the colony of Rhode Island in 1647, as the twenty-first generation in a line from one Galford^U Percy. Keeping in mind that Frederick C. Pierce is considered to be one of the very least reliable genealogists to have published ever, the reader should be very wary of believing any of the following line. Col. Pierce stated that Richard¹ Pearce was a son of Richard^α Pierce, born 1590, who married his wife Martha in England, lived in Bristol, and sailed from there to America in the Lyons, of which his brother, Captain William Pearce, was Master. Richard^α Pearce (as the name to be spelled in this branch of the family) and his wife Martha had Richard¹, below, born 1615, John, Samuel, Hannah, Martha, Sarah, William and Mary.

The line from Galford^U Percy was given as William^τ, Alan^σ, William^ο, William^π, Agnes^ο, Henry^ε, William^υ, Henry^μ, Henry^λ, Henry^κ, Henry¹, Henry^θ, Henry^η, Henry^ζ, and Sir Ralph^ε, who was seneschal of his father's court at Alnwick. The line goes on to Peter^δ Percy, born 1447, who was a standard bearer to King Richard III at the Battle of Bosworth Field in 1485, and Richard^γ, who founded Pearce Hall in Yorkshire, where he died. Richard^β had two sons, Richard^α and William, who changed the name from Percy to Pierce or Pearce.

While this line is interesting it seems hard to develop any evidence in its favor. It seems odd that Richard¹ Pearce, below, would have come from a Bristol family and married in Essex, even if he did not live in Bow, Middlesex, as given in Banks' Topographical Dictionary [110; see also Aspinwall]. It is also difficult to believe that 143 years would have passed between the births of Peter^δ Percy and Richard^α Pearce, his alleged greatgrandson.

The reader who has little acquaintance with genealogy may be interested to know that family lines in Britain have been passed on frequently through female heirs, thus Agnes^ο Percy does not seem incorrect on the face of it. Her husband simply took her more prominent surname, a common practice. Unfortunately it was another common practice to ascribe to a common family, such as Pearce, a relationship to a family of the peerage, such as Percy.

1. RICHARD¹ PEARCE, born in England about 1620, died in Portsmouth, Rhode Island, between 22 April 1677, the date of his will, and 28 Oct. 1678, when it was proven [Austin].

He married at Waltham Abbey, Essex, England, 5 May 1642, Susannah¹ Wright* [Wilbour].

He was living at "Prudence Island the Narrowgansett Bay" in Rhode Island on 14 Sept. 1647 when he acknowledged receipt of a fifth of the legacy for the children of John Wright left by his wife's grandfather, "Ralph Dell of Bow in Middlesex," England [Aspinwall Notarial Records].

Children, listed by Austin:

- i. Martha², b. 13 Sept. 1645; m. Mahershallalhashbaz² Dyer.
- * ii. John, b. 8 Sept. 1647; m. 1674 Mary² Tallman.
- iii. Richard, b. 3 Oct. 1649; m. Experience.
- iv. Giles, b. 22 July 1651; m. 13 April 1676 Elizabeth Hall.
- v. Susannah, b. 20 Nov. 1652; m. George² Brownell.
- vi. Mary, b. 6 May 1654; m. Thomas² Brownell.
- vii. Jeremiah, b. 17 Nov. 1656.
- viii. James, b. 6 Dec. 1658.
- ix. daughter, b. 7 July 1661.
- ✓ x. George, b. 10 July 1662; m. (1) 7 April 1687 Alice Hart, m. (2) 22 March 1721 Temperance³ Kirby.
- xi. William, b. 22 Dec. 1664.

2. JOHN² PEARCE, born in Portsmouth, Rhode Island, 8 Sept. 1647, died 5 Dec. 1707.

He married in Portsmouth, 28 April 1669, Mary² Tallman*, who died in 1720.

He lived in Tiverton when that town was organized on 2 March 1692, and held the office of Ensign.

Children, listed by Austin:

- i. John³.
- * ii. Mary, m. John² Read, Jr.
- iii. Susannah.
- iv. Anne, b. 14 Feb. 1674.
- v. Sarah.
- vi. Elizabeth.
- vii. Rachel.
- viii. Alice.

DELL

The registers of the parishes mentioned below are all extant. Bow-Middlesex dates from 1539, Waltham Abbey from 1563, and Bury St. James from 1558. They should be consulted, for apparently the original research into this line has been superficial.

1. RALPH^B DELL was a citizen and clothworker at Stratford-le-Bow, Middlesex, England, according to his will, which was proven in 1646 [see P.C.C. 184, Twisse].

The name of his first wife is unknown. After 1618 he married Elizabeth Bright, daughter of Henry Bright, who was baptized in the parish of St. James, Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, 17 Sept. 1598 [Wilbour; see Bright pedigree in Bond's Watertown, 2nd ed., 708-709, with notes], while her will was proved at Doctors' Commons, London, 6 August 1657.

He was an assessor of the King's subsidies at Stratford-le-Bow in 1628 [Wilbour; see also Somerby MSS., 10:257], and he may have lived formerly at Waltham Abbey, Essex, where the children of his brother John were baptized and buried. He mentioned sisters Mary, Ellen, Elizabeth and Joan in his will. His only known child had died earlier.

Child, by wife unknown:

- * i. Mary^a, bur. Waltham Abbey 23 Feb. 1637/8; m. there 22 April 1624 John^a Wright.

WRIGHT OF ESSEX

Further study of appropriate probate records may reveal information on the ancestry of John^a Wright.

1. JOHN^a WRIGHT, born perhaps about 1600, was probably the one buried at Waltham Abbey, Essex, England, 5 July 1643, as the "children of John Wright" were mentioned in his wife's father's will, proved in 1646 [Wilbour].

He married in Waltham Abbey, 22 April 1624, Mary^a Dell*, who was buried there 23 Feb. 1637/8.

He was apparently from Surestone" (Sewardstone) in the parish of Waltham Holy Cross, Essex.

Children, recorded at Waltham Abbey:

- i. John, bapt. 20 Feb. 1624/5; bur. 30 Sept. 1626.
- ii. Amy, bur. 4 June 1638.
- * iii. Susannah¹, bapt. 5 August 1627; m. 5 May 1642 Richard¹ Pearce.
- iv. Elyn, bur. 5 Nov. 1632.
- v. Ann, bapt. 29 August 1633.
- vi. Ralph, bapt. 26 Sept. 1635.
- vii. Henry, bapt. 16 May 1637.
- viii. child, not recorded at Waltham Abbey, who apparently received one-fifth of the legacy left by Ralph Dell to the children of John Wright.

Various Family Information Found by Miss Ruth Potter

The Rhode Island Vital Records is where I got the marriage of "Ma.
Bowen (son of Nathaniel & Esther) to Lydia Pearce" "daughter of Giles Pearce" in 1779. That is the date given in the D.A.R. Records.

In R. I. Vital Records - Arnold Vol. 12 - p. 430. Deaths (from the "Providence Journal"). "Mary, wife of William Bowen of Seneca, N.Y. at Warren while on a visit. - died July 7, 1828." William's wife Lydia died in 1826 - so he could have married Mary.

You wondered if Ma. Bowen B. 1760 lived in Eastern N.Y. or Easton, N.Y. - according to pension. To me it is quite surely "Eastern, N.Y."

A newspaper was printed in Warren, R. I. as early as 1793 -
"Herald of the United States". "The Columbia Post Boy was printed in 1813." The Madison Library had only two copies.

I gave him my own line from Richard Bowen through his daughter Ruth Bowen who married George Hendrick right down through the generations to me (Ruth Potter).

Mr. Hubert Bowen of Ogden, Utah had a query in 1942 in the Hartford Times, as these queries go back to your cousin Hubert.

Miss Potter states "I do know that both immigrants Richard and Griffith Bowen have such a background", my family tradition of three Bowen brothers coming from Wales.

I really do feel that the descendants of Frances (Bowen) Goodrich must have worked on their genealogy and Sarah (James) Bowen lived with them a long long time, as well as (blind) sister Sarah who worked on the genealogy. They seem to feel confident that their line (one part of which is identical with yours) goes back to Nathaniel and Esther Bowen of Warren, Rhode Island through two lines. The family names mean something, and both "Thomas" and "Nathaniel" as well as the "Giles" name are repeated in your line -- we know.

You probably noticed that there was a migration from New England into N. Y. state soon after the American Revolution - first into eastern, N.Y. - then farther west.

You may notice in an atlas that Rehoboth, Mass. and Wrentham, Mass.
are so very near Warren, R. I.. I believe Wrentham township joins Warren township and Rehoboth, where Richard Bowen immigrant lived, joins Wrentham.

It is interesting there was a Giles Pierce in Sweden, N.Y. The N.
Granville, N.Y. Church record certainly looks like it might be connected.

William Bowen's Pension Record shows he was in western Mass. 1795-1801. That leaves from the Revolution to 1795 not accounted for.

I was very interested that you think Grastus Eldon Bowen was a son of your Thomas of Sweden, N.Y. I looked in the Barbour Collection of Vital Records of Conn. to see if his birth was recorded. It was not.

(Hein's Lydia (Pearce) Bowen was aunt of our Lydia (Pearce) Dodge of Kingston MO.

However, I found "Erastus Bowen of Haver, N.Y. married Hannah Howard of Warren, Conn., this day 21 Sept. 1847 by Rev. John H. Keop. Warren, Conn. vital records." Now I realize this is probably a different Erastus as Erastus Bowen was in Wisconsin in 1846.

The fact that the name Giles is carried into your family, I feel is significant. A possible chart would be:

✓ William Bowen b. 1760 m. 1779 Lydia Pearce daughter of Giles Pearce possible son: Thomas Bowen, b. 1782 m. Sarah James son Peter Giles Bowen.

You see the name Giles was not so far back from your Peter Giles. It is looking to me very much as though you may be descended from the old New England family of Bowen.

From Hubert Bowen's letter - Lydia F. Giles and William Bowen can't marry 6 Aug. 1786 and have Elizabeth Nov. 1779 and Thomas 9 September 1782 but Ma. and Lydia Pierce could.

The Giles Pearce (Pierce) Family

OUR
(Red. War Section)

Lydia Pierce married William Bowen Jan 5, 1779

In several places we can find records of her family. She was a daughter ✓ of Giles Pearce and Mercy his wife. This Pearce family lived in Newport County, Rhode Island. Giles Pearce was born March 23, 1722 and died in July of 1792. His wife was Mercy Scorsch. Giles parents were James Pearce and Martha "Wilbor" Pearce. The children of Giles and Mercy Pearce:

This means
his Lydia (Pearce)
Bowen was an
Lydia Warman
(Pearce) Dodge's
aunt.

This House Pearce married a Mary — and they had a son named Giles Pearce who was born February 2, 1778. A will dated June 17, 1822 at Sweden, New York was written by Giles Pearce formerly of Warwick, Rhode Island. It was proven January 31, 1833 and names his wife Elizabeth.

James Pearce was born September 4, 1691 at Little Compton, R.I., and died September 24, 1755. He was married to Martha Wilbor who was born Oct.
22, 1690 and died September 20, 1760. The children of this couple were:
Susanna, Martha, James, Giles, Mary, George, Alice, Phoebe and Samuel.

Giles'
parents

Martha Wilbor was the daughter of Samuel and Mary Wilbor. Samuel was born in 1690 and died in 1760. Martha was married to James Pearce in 1712.

A slightly different version was that Martha Wilbor who was born Oct.
22, 1690 at Little Compton, R.I. married March 5, 1712 a James Pearce, son of George and Alice Hart Pearce. These folks all lived and died at Little Compton, Rhode Island which is a township of 22 square miles jutting down into the ocean. A son of James Pearce and Martha "Wilbor" Pearce was Giles, who was born March 23, 1722, married Mercy Scorsch August 23, 1744 and who died July —, 1792.

James'
parents

Another source gives Lydia Pearce the daughter of James and Martha (Wilbor) Pearce, born July 29, 1760 and married to William Bowen, son of Nathaniel and Bether. This is interesting as I found Peter Giles Bowen and Harriett Trenchard's marriage at Delafield, Wis. also listed under Bowen.

The above Pearce (Pearce) (Pierce) Vital Records of the various Rhode Island towns show how much variation is found in the names even Wilbor (Wilbor) (Wilbur) and Bowen and (Bowen), yet the story is there and all falls into its proper place.

Peter Giles Bowen received his middle name Giles from this Pearce family.

I also distinctly remember Ada Goodrich referring to Peter Giles Bowen as Giles Peter Bowen, and the notes I took on my visit read that way. She also particularly stated her name was originally spelled Chamberlin, not Chamberlain.

A Wilbor family still lives in a very old old home built in 1691 in Little Compton, Rhode Island, the eighth generation of the original settlers.

1790 MAP Eastern NY
Schoharie then in Albany Co.
Hudson River
Census

This map of Schoharie County is a portion of a map of the State of New York made by Simeon DeWitt, 1802. It is on file in the document room of the New York State Library, Albany, N. Y.

The county of Schoharie was formed from Albany and Otsego, April 6, 1795. A small part of Greene was annexed in 1836. The six original towns as shown by the above map were: Schoharie, Middletown, Bristol, Blenheim, Cobleskill and Sharon. In 1801 Middletown was changed to Middleburgh, and in 1808, Bristol to Broome in honor of Lieutenant Gov.

boundaries of Schoharie County were established.

At present there are sixteen towns in the county, the names of which with the dates of their foundation, together with the towns whom which each was taken, are as follows:

Schoharie, formed Mar. 17, 1797, from Schoharie, Albany County.

Broome, as Bristol, formed Mar.

Schoharie Co. Hist. Soc. Bulletin

"About 8 o'clock the enemy commenced a regular attack on the fort, which was returned with effect from the garrison. The regular troops fired a few cannon shot, and threw a number of shells, one of which burst in the air above the fort, doing no injury; another entered and burst in the upper loft of the fort, doing no other mischief than destroying a quantity of bedding, and nearly frightening to death a little Frenchman who had fled to the chamber for protection, and came running down stairs, at the same time exclaiming, 'de diable pe among de fedders.' The interior of the fort was several times on fire, but was as often extinguished by the exertions of the women. The Indians retreated behind a row of willow trees, and kept up a constant fire, but at too great a distance to do effect. In the fort, all was gloom and despondency; the garrison only amounted to 150 regular troops, and about 100 militia. Their ammunition was nearly exhausted—to attempt to defend the fort, appeared to be madness;—to surrender, was to deliver up themselves, their wives and children to immediate death, or at least to a long captivity. Major Wolsey, who commanded the fort, was inclined to surrender on the first appearance of the enemy, but was prevented by the officers of the militia, who resolved to defend it or to die in the contest. Wolsey's presence of mind forsook him in the hour of danger; he concealed himself at first with the women and children in the house, and when driven out by the ridicule of his new associates, he crawled round the intrenchments on his hands and knees, amid the jeers and bravos of the militia, who felt their courage revive as their laughter was excited by the cowardice of the major. In times of extreme danger, every thing which has a tendency to destroy reflection by exciting risibility has a good effect.

"The enemy, perceiving that their shot and shells did little or no execution, formed under shelter of a small building near the fort, and prepared to carry the works by assault. While the preparations were making, a flag was seen to approach the fort; all seemed inclined to admit it, when Murphy and Bartholomew Vroman, who suspected that it was only an artifice to learn the actual strength of the garrison, and aware that for them at least there was no safety in capitulation, fired upon the flag. The flag retired, and some soldiers were ordered to arrest Murphy; but so great was his popularity among the soldiers, that no one dared to obey. The flag approached a second time, and was a second time driven back by Murphy and his adherents. A white flag was then ordered to be raised in the fort, but Murphy threatened with instant death any one who should obey. The enemy sent a flag the third time, and on Murphy's turning to fire upon it, Wolsey presented his pistol and threatened to shoot him if he did;—but not in the least intimidated by the major's threat, Murphy very deliberately raised his rifle, and pointing it towards him, firmly replied, 'I will die before they shall have me prisoner.' Major Wolsey then retired to his room, where he remained until Col. Vroman was despatched in search of him. He was found covered up in bed, trembling like a leaf. Col. Vroman accosted him, 'Was you sent here to sneak away so, when we are attacked by the tories and Indians? and do you mean to give up the fort to these bloody rascals?'—To which Major Wolsey made no reply, but consented to yield up the command to Col. Vroman. At this change of officers, unanimous joy pervaded the whole fort. And even the women* smiled to behold the portly figure of Col. Vroman stalking about the fort—directing and encouraging the soldiers in his melodious Low Dutch notes.

"The British officers now held a council of war, and after a short consultation withdrew; and then proceeded down the Schoharie creek, burning and destroying every thing that lay in their way. The loss of the garrison in this affair was only one killed and two wounded, one mortally. It is not known what loss the enemy sustained, or why they retreated so hastily."

SCHOHARIE was organized in 1788, as part of Albany county: it has a hilly surface, with extensive valleys on the Schoharie and Fox creeks. The Schoharie creek, at this place, is about 10 rods wide, and the flats on its borders are from 1 to 2 miles wide and of surpassing fertility. Pop. 5,532. Schoharie village, the county seat, lies on the flats, near the junction of Schoharie and Fox creeks, 32 miles W. of Albany. It contains about 100 dwellings, the county buildings, 1 Lutheran and 1 Dutch Reformed church, and an academy. The above engraving is a SW. view in the central part of the village: the courthouse, a stone building 3 stories high, is seen on the right; the Lutheran church and the academy in the distance.

* "One of them," says Col. Stone, in his Life of Brant, "an interesting young woman, whose name yet lives in story among her own mountains, perceiving, as she thought, symptoms of fear in a soldier who had been ordered to a well without the works, and within range of the enemy's fire, for water, snatched the bucket from his hands, and ran forth for it herself. Without changing color, or giving the slightest evidence of fear, she drew and brought bucket after bucket to the thirsty soldiers, and providentially escaped without injury."

"In the year 1709, a number of families from the Palatinates in Germany, induced by the liberal offers made by Queen Anne, embarked for New York, and having proceeded up the Hudson as far as Albany, landed, and selected a few of their number to choose a place for a settlement. Of these, some went to Schenectady, and thence up the Mohawk, where a settlement of Germans had been formed a few years previous: the others, hearing of a beautiful country to the southwest, penetrated the wilderness in that direction; and after travelling through a hilly, and in some parts mountainous country, arrived the second day on the height of land east of the Schoharie creek.

"Here a scene of extraordinary beauty, and to them entirely new, burst upon their sight. At their feet, and far below them, was a plain of limited extent, embosomed by hills, in some places rising abruptly to the height of 1000 feet, and in others of more gentle ascent, and broken by deep ravines. The declivity of the hills was covered with a stunted growth of oak, too scanty to hide even from a distant view the rocks amid which they grew, and forming a striking contrast with the stately forest and luxuriant vegetation of the plain below. The valley had been partially cleared, and the alternate spots of woodland and meadow, interspersed with clumps of trees, added variety and richness to the landscape. Along its western boundary ran the Schoharie creek, now washing the base of the hill, now meandering through the flats; its course marked through the woodlands by the deep green of the trees along its bank, and through the meadows by the elms that lined its borders; sometimes its course was hidden from the view by the thick foliage, and again, as its channel spread out wider, or its course inclined to the east, its clear waters were seen glittering in the sunbeams. No traces of any occupants of this valley were seen, except here and there the ruins of a deserted wigwam.

"The travellers returned to Albany, and gave so flattering an account of the country which they had visited, that the whole company started immediately for Schoharie, without waiting for the return of their friends from the Mohawk. The place they chose for a settlement had formerly been occupied by a part of the Mohawk tribe of Indians; but they had most of them now left it. The settlers were illly provided with implements of husbandry, and with many of the necessaries of life, which wants were severely felt during many years. Whether they paid the Mohawks an equivalent for the land, tradition does not inform us. It was not, however, until several years after, that they obtained a grant

THE AMERICAN BRANCH.

From the foregoing historical sketch of the English branch of the Percies it will be seen that Peter¹⁷ Percy* was son of Ralph¹⁶ Percy; he (Peter¹⁷) was born in 1447 and his descent is as follows from the first ancestor: Galfred¹, William², Alan³, William⁴, William⁵, Agnes⁶, Henry⁷, William⁸, Henry⁹, Henry¹⁰, Henry¹¹, Henry¹², Henry¹³, Henry¹⁴, Henry¹⁵, Ralph¹⁶.

Peter¹⁷ Percy had a son Richard¹⁸. The father was standard bearer to Richard the Third at the battle of Bosworth Field in 1485.

- ✓ 1. RICHARD²¹ PEARCE (Richard²⁰, Richard¹⁹), b. 1615 in England; m. in Portsmouth, R. I., in 1642, Susannah Wright, who was born in 1620. He died in Portsmouth in 1678 and she was deceased at that time.

Richard Pearce was at Portsmouth as early as 1654, when he was a witness to a deed of 12 acres of land and a house purchased of William James by Henry Piercy.

Jan. 14, 1657, he was a witness to a deed. June 8, 1657, he was chosen surveyor of marks of all "Cattell that goe" from this town.

June 11, 1658, he was a witness to a will. May 18, 1658, he was admitted Freeman of the Colony from Portsmouth.

Nov. 16, 1666, he purchased 2 acres 7 rods of land of Jacob Cole; 1669 he purchased of Joseph Parker 14 acres of land in Portsmouth.

with all parties. In the rupture between the king and the parliament he eventually sided with the latter; possibly taking his notions of the gratitude of princes and the justice of the Star chamber from the experience of his father. Yet he deprecated the outrageous excess committed by his own party in the execution of their sovereign. He afterwards favored the restoration; and then with even the loyalists so high was his estimation that he was appointed to fill, at the coronation of Charles II., the dignified office of lord high constable. This earl, who had resided much at Petworth, died, in the sixty-sixth year of his age, 13th Oct., 1668. He had been twice married; but his issue male, an only son, was by his second wife, the Lady Elizabeth Howard,* daughter of Theophilus second earl of Suffolk.

Josceline Percy, eleventh and last Earl of Northumberland of his line, was twenty-four years old at the demise of the late earl his father. He was the sole hope of his noble house whose expectations were raised very high for him: nor were these doomed to be disappointed otherwise than by his premature death; which took place, 21st May, 1670, at Turin, as he was on his travels on the continent, after he had held possession of his honors a little less than two years. He had married the lady Elizabeth Wriothesley the daughter and co-heir of Thomas fourth Earl of Southampton, lord high treasurer of England: and had issue a son and two daughters. The son Henry, Lord Percy, the last heir apparent to the titles of his house died in infancy 2d of May, 1668, more than two years before his father.

After these events, the Northumberland title and territory were for a short time severed. The earldom,† afterwards raised to a dukedom, was conferred by Charles II., on his own illegitimate son George Fitzroy; who, however, died without issue. The territory we shall find to have centered in the heiress of the last mentioned earl of the Percy house.

The younger of the daughters, of the tenth Earl of Northumberland, the Lady Henrietta Percy, having died whilst an infant; the elder, the Lady Elizabeth Percy, became sole heiress of her father. She was married to Charles Seymour, known to history as the proud Duke of Somerset;§ and had a large family;|| of which

* By his marriage with this lady, the earl acquired the noble residence at Charing Cross, London, which thence changing its name with its proprietors, is still enjoyed by their descendants.

† He was the eighteenth Lord of Petworth of his family. See Dallaway's Sussex, vol. ii. p. 279.

‡ Shortly previous to this creation James Percy the trunkmaker emerged from obscurity and unsuccessfully prosecuted his claim.

§ The Lady Elizabeth Percy, though very young in 1632 when this marriage took place, had already been previously married to Henry Cavendish, Earl of Ogle, the eldest son of the Duke of Newcastle, who died without issue; and had been contracted to Thomas Thynne, Esq., of Longleat, whose bright prospects procured his assassination through a rival in 1632. This tragic incident is represented in bas-relief on his monument in Westminster Abbey.

|| Of this family the only personages who had surviving issue at all were Duke Algernon, the son and successor, and a daughter, the Lady Catharine the eldest surviving son Algernon Seymour, Duke of Somerset* by descent, and Earl of Northumberland, and of Egremont by creation, had, with a son who died young, a daughter and sole heiress, the Lady Elizabeth Seymour. This lady became the wife of Sir Hugh Smithson, a Yorkshire baronet, who in consequence of this alliance, assumed the name of Percy and obtained the Dukedom of Northumberland: and she transmitted to her grandson by this marriage, Hugh Percy, the present Duke of Northumberland, the sole lineal representation of the last four earls of the house of Percy, together with all which should accompany the living blood of his princely ancestors.

Seymour, married to Sir William Wyndham, the tory leader of the opposition to the Walpole administration in the time of George I. :—

That "Wyndham, just to freedom and the throne,
The master of our passions and his own,"—Pope.

On the death of Duke Algernon without any surviving son, his dukedom of Somerset devolved on a distant cousin on his father's side; the earldom of Egremont, together with the honour of Petworth and some lands in Yorkshire passed by a peculiar patent and settlement to his nephew Sir Charles Windham, the son of the above mentioned marriage; and the earldom of Northumberland devolved according to its limitation, with the estates in Northumberland and Middlesex, on his son-in-law Sir Hugh Smithson.

* During his father's life he was styled Earl of Hartford, the second title of his family :—

"Now Percy's name no more does fill the north;
Hartford succeeds in honor, fame, and worth,
Seymour and Percy both in him unite—
He a good patriot, and a hardy knight."—Cheriot.

He married, probably in 1642, Susannah, daughter of George Wright of Newport, who was probably of Salem, 1637, Newport, 1648, and who in 1649 stabbed one Walter Lettice, as John Winthrop, Jr., received a letter to this effect from Roger Williams.

His will was drawn April 23, 1677, and was proved in Portsmouth Oct. 28, 1678. His son Richard was executor and he calls him his "eledest son."

While John resided in Dorchester his uncle, Capt. Wm. Pearce, was sent by Gov. Winthrop to Ireland with his ship "Lyon" for provisions for the colony, as there was a scarcity one year. Oct. 8, 1633, John was selected as one of the first selectmen of Dorchester. He was one of the first grantees of lands in that town prior to 1636.

P. 427, L. 42. *JOHN, Dorchester: Savage has here confounded two persons of the same name, rightly distinguished in the Hist. Dorch. p. 71. His note (p. 659) admits an uncertainty, but does not correct the error of the text.

1. John, Dorchester, cooper, had by his w. Mary, Nehemiah, b. 17 Jan. 1634, and Mary, b. 6 Mar. 1638 (Gen. Reg., Vol. V. p. 244); sold house and land in Dorch., 28 Dec. 1642, to Richard Curtis, his w. not signing (Suff. Deeds, L. 2, F. 151), and prob. rem. to Boston. This is clearly the John who m. Rebecca Wheeler, 10 Aug. 1654, and d. 17 Sept. 1661, and his s. Samuel seems to me to have been b. in Boston 14 Jan. 1688 (Savage, p. 429, l. 6). His will (Suff. Prob., no. 276,) mentions estate "at Boston or Dorchester," gives to Nehemiah the testator's "working tools," and provides for the education of Samuel, whom Savage rightly, as I think, judges to be younger than N. Mercy P., who m. Manasses Marston at Charlestown, 22 Aug., 1667 (Charlestown Records), seems to have been the dau. of this John (Suff. Deeds, L. 15, F. 160); but she cannot have been the dau. of Rebecca. Administration on the est. of Rebecca P. was granted to her s., Joseph Wheeler, 21 Dec., 1674. (Suff. Prob. no. 713, L. 5, F. 220.) See also Suff. Deeds, L. 3, F. 190.

I am disposed to identify this John with the John Pears whose name stands seventeenth in the list of inhabitants of

For my dau. There was a George Pearce and George, Jr., in Little Compton in 1748, who at that time took the oath against bribery and corruption. The following is a copy of the entry of the first marriage of George Pearce from the Portsmouth town records:

On Rhode Island, the seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred and eighty-seven, George Pearce, of Portsmouth aforesaid, did take to wife Alice Hart, daughter of Richard Hart, of Portsmouth, and the said George Pearce and Alice Hart here and then, according to law, joined together in marriage before me, John Coggeshall, Justice.

The 11th day of April, in 1752, the 26th year of his⁴ Majesties reign, George the Second, By the grace of God and Great Britain, France and Ireland, King Defender of the Faith.

I, Jeremiah Pierce, of East Greenwich, in the county of Kent, in the colony of Rhode Island, yeoman, being far advanced in life, but at present in health and of a sound disposing mind and memory, thanks be to Almighty God, thoughts calling to mind the mortality of my body and considering its appointed for all men to die, I make and ordain this to be my last will and testament. That is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my soul to God that gave it, and my body I commit to the earth to be decently buried at the discretion of my executor hereinafter named. And as touching such worldly estate as it has pleased God to bless me with, in this world, after all my just debts are paid, I give and dispose of it in the following manner and form.

But in failure of paying said legacies to my said daughters as aforesaid, then my will is that my said daughters Elizabeth and Susannah shall have the said lots of thatch bed to be equally divided between them and to be their heirs and assigns forever.

Item 4th.—I bequeath to my son Giles one and a half acres out of the corner of my land in East Greenwich aforesaid laying near to where Rufus Green now dwells, to be layed in the corner of my said land adjoining to the county road and to be laid as square as may be and the same after my wife's decease to be to him, my said son, Giles his heirs and assigns forever.

* Died in Amsterdam on the 20th inst., Mr. Thomas Allen, in the 88th year of his age. Mr. Allen was a member of the Presbyterian church in this place and held the office of Ruling Elder for 47 years—first in the church at Man-ny's Corners, and then in the church at Amsterdam village, from the time of its organization to the time of his death. He conscientiously discharged his duties as a Christian and an officer in the church, resting alone on Christ for the hope of his personal justification in the sight of God. He was a Christian of the old school, and loved the doctrines of grace and rested on them as a sure foundation. His last sickness was protracted and painful, during which he was sustained by the consolation of the gospel, and he died in the hope of a glorious and blessed immortality.

15 WILLIAM¹ PEARCE (Richard,² Richard,³ Richard,⁴) b. Sept. 18, 1716 ; m. Apr. 22, 1742, Lydia Brown. Res. Bristol, R. I. William Pearce purchased the property known as Bristol Ferry in 1753, of Job Lawton. There was an old fort not far from the house at Bristol Ferry. It was this fort which prevented the British from passing on its way to burn Fall River and other places during the Revolutionary war. The Yankees made it so hot for them they were obliged to anchor their fleet, and manned their barges, thinking to pass hugging the south shore, but they were nearly all sunk, and the attempt was abandoned. At this time—the Revolution—the house stood a short distance to the N. E. of the present location, and in that house two of the sentries were killed by a cannon ball fired from the British fort upon the other side of the River, or Bay, about one mile distant. They were repeatedly warned of the danger, but did not heed it. The ball first struck the water, then a sharp rock, at the foot of the road, then glanced and passed through the side of the house, a partition, and through one man and lodged in the other, killing both. His son George Pearce has related that one day the cannon balls were flying so fast that the family were sent to Bristol for safety, and while going over the top of the Ferry Hill, on horseback behind his mother, a cannon ball passed between the horse's legs. Persons there have frequently ploughed out grape shot, and 8 and 12 pounders, once the half of a 24lb ball. The embankment of the fort is plainly to be seen, also the powder magazines. The British had possession of the entire Island of R. I., at one time, with a fort at the N. end opposite the Ferry. Members of this family have been wardens of St. Michael's church, Bristol, for sixty years. William Pearce's name appears in the old Colony records as assisting about the fort and victualling the soldiers. A man was dragged from the Ferry House, during the war of 1812, cropped and branded for some misdemeanor. Ch.—

 Giles Pearce was admitted a Freeman of Rhode Island in 1745. He married Desire, daughter of Joseph Case, Esq., of North Kingston. He was the youngest son of John Pearce and Susannah his wife. A few years of his married life was spent in East Greenwich, and after the large landed estate of his father John had been spent in law suits by the executors of his estate, and finding that nothing of any value would be left for him, he removed soon after 1758 to Block Island, where he improved the Sands, Hull and Rathburn farms and became the largest stock raiser, especially of sheep, upon the Island and second to but few in the Colony. In 1775, James Rhodes and Gideon Hoxie were a committee appointed by the general assembly of the Colony to oversee all the stock on the Island, exhibited unto said assembly an account of the stock taken from said Island belonging to sundry persons, together with the valuation thereof. The largest number by far were taken for Giles Pearce, being:
 241 fat sheep and lambs valued at.. 78£ 6s. 6d.
 441 sheep valued at..... 110£ 5s. 0d.

Total 682 sheep and lambs. Total value.. 188£ 11s. 6d.

In the proceedings of the General Assembly, held for the colony of Providence, the 31st day of Oct., 1775, the following appears as per the R. I. Colony Records:

And the said account being duly examined It was voted and resolved that the same be and is hereby allowed and that the account thereof being 534£ 9s. 6d.

lawful money be paid out of the general treasury to the person to whom the same is rightfully due as mentioned in said account.

A correspondent, writing to me, says: Between 1760 and 1770 he removed from East Greenwich to New Shoreham, or Block Island, where he lived during the war of the Revolution, when, during those times, the authorities took from the island most of the stock belonging to the inhabitants of the island, and Giles Pearce at that time was one of the largest owners of sheep on the island, and a large number of fat sheep and lambs were taken from him. Whether he was ever paid for them or not I do not know.

In 1782 he purchased quite a large tract of land in North Kingston, Narragansett, and in 1783, as soon after the war as permission could be procured, he and his large family of sons and daughters moved here. He died in 1797, and his will was admitted to probate in North Kingston July, 1797. Ch.—

"The memory of the just is blessed." Seldom has this sentiment been more beautifully illustrated in any community, than in ours, in the case of the venerated patriarch of our church, our oldest and highly esteemed fellow-citizen, Capt. William Pearce. Of the pure stock of the Pilgrims, the sixth in direct descent from John Howland, of the Mayflower. Capt. Pearce, was in early life convinced of his need of a new nature. In his eighteenth year, he heard Jesse Lee preach the first Methodist sermon in Bristol, R. I., from the words, "Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." So clearly cut were the impressions of that discourse, that the wear of seventy-seven years failed to efface them from his memory. Within a short time previous to his death, I have heard him repeat the text, and characterize the subject and the manner of the preacher as something "entirely new" in those times. In May, 1792, Rev. Lemuel Smith organized the first class in Bristol. William Pearce was one of the original sixteen members. In September following, Rev. Ezekiel Cooper, Presiding Elder of Boston District, visited the infant church and administered the ordinances. Bro. Pearce was baptized, and received the Holy Sacrament for the first time. From this "day of small things," through her varied experience of nearly three quarters of a century, this church has ever found in him a fast friend, unwavering in his love and devotion. In her feebleness, in her shame, in her fiery trials, as in her strength, her honor and her triumphs he stood unflinchingly by her; whoever else proved faithless, William Pearce remained faithful to the end. In the discharge of his religious duties, our brother was exemplary. In the closet and at the family altar he sought the divine blessing, in the strength of which he maintained an eminently consistent and useful Christian life. He delighted in the services of the sanctuary, and highly appreciated the peculiar institutions of his beloved Methodism. Enjoying the love and confidence of his brethren, he was charged with official responsibility for many years, and always proved himself a wise counselor, and an earnest, devoted and faithful servant.

His fellow-citizens indicated their appreciation of his ability and integrity by electing him for many years a member of the Town Council and Court of Probate; several times a member of the State Legislature, and for several years a Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. An original corporator of the Freeman's Bank of Bristol, he served as a Director for fifty years. Much of his active life was spent in mercantile pursuits. He was always distinguished for temperance, prudence and strict integrity. Born in this town, Nov. 3d., 1772, when the war-clouds were gathering for the storm of the Revolution, he attained his majority in time to cast his maiden vote for the re-election of George Washington to the Presidency; and, near the end of his pilgrimage of almost a hundred years, when the war-clouds of a fiercer storm were still hanging over the land, he participated in another Presidential contest, and cast his vote for the re-election of our second Washington, the immortal Abraham Lincoln. Other rare distinctions were enjoyed by our brother. In his family were entertained as honored guests Francis Asbury and Thomas Coke, the pioneer bishops of our church, the fathers respectively of Sabbath Schools and modern missions. Here, too, sat and talked and prayed such apostolic men as Jesse Lee, Joshua Soule and Ayrshire Cooper.

The closing scene of this long and well-spent life was calm and sincere. On the 2d. of February, 1867, about midnight, just as common was passing into holy time, the saintly spirit of this veteran of the cross, disrobed of its mortal vestments, took its upward flight to mingle with "the spirits of just men made perfect."

His funeral was celebrated the following Wednesday, in the church, where a large concourse gathered to do honor to the memory of this good man. Rev. Dr. Shepard, of the Congregational Church, Revs. John Livesey and David H. Ela, of the Providence Conference, assisted the pastor, Rev. T. Snowden Thomas, in the solemn services. A profound impression was made upon the entire community by the death and funeral of Father Pearce, and contributed not a little to the growing religious interest, which has resulted so gloriously in reviving our churches and converting many scores of sinners. Bristol Phoenix, R. I., April 27, 1867.

He died at his residence in Newport, R. I., May 9, 1849, æ 69, of erysipelas. He was born April, 1780, on the Island of Prudence and was therefore sixty-nine years of age at the time of his death. He graduated with much honor at Brown University, and after completing his study of law, he began his practice of the legal profession in Newport, where he remained until the time of his death. Mr. Pearce became early interested in political affairs and in 1819 he was elected Attorney General of the State, which office he filled until 1825. He was then appointed United States District Attorney for the Rhode Island district, and in November, 1835, he was elected representative to Congress, in which capacity he continued to serve the people of Rhode Island until 1837, when he was succeeded by the Hon. Robert B. Cranston.—

 Casey. She d. in 1862. Ch.—Silas and Thomas L.
 Thomas Lincoln Casey, the engineer has finished probably the highest structure ever reared, the Washington monument, the capstone of which is 555 feet above the ground. When it was placed in position a few years ago the national flag was unfurled from its summit, and the booming of artillery announced the completion of a wonderful piece of masonry, finished, that is, as regards its exterior structure. Within two years its base and interior will have been completed, also, and the visitor will find comfortable means of ascent to the summit from within the monument. An an elevator and iron stairway will be provided for the purpose.

The corner-stone of the building was laid July 4, 1848. Robert C. Winthrop, Speaker of the House of Representatives, made the principal address on that occasion. In six years' time the height of 175 feet was reached, upon which $230,000 had been spent. Nothing was done toward furthering the work during the next twenty-five years. In 1876 interest in the neglected building revived, and after Congress had voted the necessary appropriation work was resumed in earnest, about six years ago, with Col. Thomas Lincoln Casey as engineer in charge of it.

The following details as to the dimensions and materials of the monument will be read with interest : Measuring from the zero mark, or brass bolt set in the masonry of the foundation at the southwest corner, it is 555 feet and four inches high. As the foundations are thirty-six feet eight inches deep ; total height from the foundation bed is 592 feet. At its base the obelisk measures fifty-five one and a half inches square, and the walls fifteen feet and a quarter of an inch thick. The pyramidal top begins at the 500-foot mark, where the dimensions are thirty-four feet five and half inches square and eighteen inches thick. The batter of the structure is one and a quarter inches to one foot. Marble used in the construction was quarried in Maryland. The top of the capstone has a shining point of aluminium, a metal which oxidizes slowly and is superior as a conductor of lightning. This metallic point is connected with a copper rod, which leads down through the center of the capstone to each of the four columns which form the elevator frame in the main shaft. At the base of the monument these leaders are conducted to the wall beneath the center of the foundation, the whole arrangement forming what is believed to be a perfect electrical conductor. Congress has appropriated $900,000 to the erection of the monument. As $230,000 had been spent previously, its entire cost thus far has been more than $1,100,000.

Great honor attaches to Colonel Casey on account of his eminent skill and success in completing the erection of the obelisk known as the Washington monument. He is a member of the Corps of Engineers, United States Army, and was born in Madison Barracks, Sacketts Harbor, New York, May 10, 1841. The late General Silas Casey, of the United States army, was a brother of the distinguished engineer. His family on both sides has been prominent in the annals of Rhode Island for more than two hundred years.

President Polk appointed him a cadet "at large" in the West Point Military Academy, where he graduated in 1852. He was then commissioned a brevet second lieutenant in the corps of engineers. Subsequently he was employed upon the military and civil works in the ordnance bureau as an instructor in engineering at the Military Academy, West Point, and in connection with engineer troops on the Pacific coast. His most important duty during the civil war was the construction of defences on the coast of Maine and New Hampshire. After the war Col. Casey was engaged in the Engineer's Bureau, Washington. In 1877 he was assigned to the charge of public buildings and grounds in the Dist. Columbia; the construction of the State, war and navy buildings, and the Washington aqueduct. His selection as chief engineer to complete the Washington National Monument was made in 1878. At the present time his duties relate to the construction of the buildings for the State, War and Navy departments; improvements at the grave of Thomas Jefferson, at Monticello, Va., and the erection of monuments to commemorate and mark the birthplace and headquarters of George Washington.

Outside of eminence in his chosen pursuit of engineering, Colonel Casey is a genealogist of reputation, and a writer marked by taste and refinement. He is a member of the Society of Cincinnati of Massachusetts, of the Loyal Legion of the United States, of the American Society of Civil Engineers, of the New England Historical and Genealogical Society, and of other learned bodies. —1886.

Stephen Pearce (second son of James Pearce and Sarah Simmons), born at Little Compton, R. I., Dec. 20, 1753.

In 1776 he entered the Revolutionary army as ensign in the second company of infantry, from Little Compton; was soon after promoted to first lieutenant; served during the war, and at its close he retired from the service as captain of the second company in the second battalion of the Newport county troops.

In 1791, with his wife and four children, he removed from Little Compton to Paris Hill, Oneida Co., New York, where he became a pioneer settler in a wild region which he lived to see populous and prosperous. He was for many years a deacon and a prominent member of the Congregational church at Paris Hill. In the war of 1812, notwithstanding his advanced age, he again entered the American army, to fill the place of his son George, who had been drafted, but who was by his duty to his family compelled to remain at home; and the veteran of the Revolution served as a private soldier on the Canadian frontier. He died at Waterville, Oneida Co., N. Y., May 14th, 1843, and was buried at Paris Hill.

Abigail Taylor, the wife of Stephen Pearce, was a daughter of Andrew Taylor of Providence, R. I. Her father, Andrew Taylor, was a merchant and traded in West India goods and slaves. He had been at one time very wealthy, and he provided for his daughter Abigail and her family the little farm on which she lived and died, in Paris, Oneida Co. N. Y. In his last years he was poor, but still an active man, of strong will and purposes. Ch.—

In sending data to the writer, he adds: Here I give you a copy of what I wrote respecting her and her father, Stephen Pearce, in February, 1833: "She was only five years old when her father moved into that town from Little Compton, R. I. She was born there July 6, 1785. The name of her grandfather and greatgrandfather, who both lived in Little Compton, was James Pearce. (My grandfather Pearce, who now sits in the room with me alone reading the Bible, has just told me this. He had one brother older than himself, whose name was Wright. He succeeded, under the English law of primogeniture which then prevailed, to the large farm of his father, and the other boys all scattered. His brothers Ezekiel and Simon came with my grandfather into Paris.") I remember now, besides, that my grandfather, Stephen Pearce, time and again told me stories of his whaling voyages and catching of whales, in the South Pacific ocean. Whaling was the great industry of his day and the region where he lived, and he made many voyages on board of whaling ships as a common hand. Julius, b. Apr. 17, 1811, m. PEARCE FAMILY LINES

I had beginner's luck with this line. The good Dodge Bible records give Lydia's correct birthdate and say she was born in Schoharrie, NY. Had thought maybe she was German because of that, but through reading history books found that during the Revolutionary War and the next several years, Schoharrie was flooded by people from Rhode Island, occasioned by British occupation during the war as a good naval base. People fled to New York to escape.

Thought what the heck, so started looking for Pearces in Rhode Island. (Or actually Pierce, which is how many of them spelled it in New York.) The Dodge Bible said Pearce, which made Mamma indignant. Someone had impressed upon her that it was really Pierce! It was not long before I came upon the meticulous and interesting book, "Little Compton Families" by B. F. Wilbour, and got all excited. (In fact I now have the book.) It showed a Lydia Pearce about our Lydia's age whose mother was Phebe Wood (our Lydia had a daughter Phebe Dodge) and half a dozen other coincidences including that she married a Mr. Dodge, but no more details, and showed that some of her relatives migrated to New York State.

I got all shook up and quickly dashed a Xerox copy off to Billie, along with a stamped postcard so she would answer soon. Her reply was an amazed, "How did you do that so soon?" Seems she and Allan had already reached the same conclusion, but the hard way, going through vital statistics, etc. A Missouri census report they saw (at that time I had no access to census reports) showed that Lydia said her parents were born in Rhode Island.

Of course my good luck at that stage was luck rather than expertise. I did then find a Pearce genealogy written by Col. Pierce, which showed Lydia among the descendants, and said she was living in Kingston, MO. The book was written about 1880 or so, at which time genealogists were not concerned about proof of pre-American heritage as they are today. He devoted a good portion of the first part of the book to discussion of the "Hot Spurs" Percys, claiming they were progenitors of the Pearces. That is highly unlikely. Furthermore, he was very wrong about the parentage of immigrant Susanna (Wright) Pearce. B.F. Wilbour, mentioned above, was able to discover her correct parents in Waltham Abbey, England. Said he wasn't sure about Richard Pearce's but it sure wasn't the Hot Spurs. That is why I have ? question mark by Bristol, Richard Pearce's supposed birthplace, and by the parents.

A good bit of the material on the Pearce chart was taken from the "Little Compton Families" book, though not all. The Mayflower Ancestors (Sheet #4) are Richard Warren, Isaac Allerton, Mary Norris, Mary Allerton, John Tilley, Joan (Hurst)(Rogers) Tilley, their daughter Elizabeth Tilley, and her later husband, John Howland.

My 6-year old grand daughter, Elise Gruna, can trace her ancestry back to the Mayflower for 15 generations, going through mothers only. Wonder how many people can say that? (We know Hurst's English mother.)

Many others (such as the Cushmans) on that sheet and on the Dodge Chart were members of the same Pilgrim band, but did not arrive on the Mayflower itself.

I had beginner's luck with this line. The good lodge little records give Lydia's correct birthdate and say she was born in Schenectady, NY. Had thought maybe she was German because of last, but through reading history books found that during the revolutionary war and the next several years, Schenectady was flooded by people from Rhode Island, occasioned by British occupation during the war as a good naval base. People fled to New York to escape.

Thought what the heck, so started looking for females in Rhode Island. (It actually turned out that many of them settled in New York.) The good lodge little records, which were known to me, showed that Lydia was not born before 1780. It was really scarce! I was not long before I came upon the excellent and interesting book, "Little Gorton Families" by B. F. Wilbur, and got all excited. (In fact I now have the book.) It showed a Lydia Pearce about our Lydia's age whose mother was Anne (our Lydia had a daughter Anne Dodge) and half a dozen other coincidences including that she married a Mr. Dodge, but no more details, and showed that some of her relatives migrated to New York State.

I got all shook up and quickly dashed a Xerox copy off to Willie, along with a stamped postcard so she would answer soon. Her reply was an answer, "How did you do that so soon?" Seems she and Allan had already reached the same conclusion, but the hard way, going through vital statistics, etc. A Missouri census report they saw (at that time I had no access to census reports) showed that Lydia said her parents were born in Rhode Island.

Of course my good luck at that stage was luck rather than expertise. I did then find a Pearce genealogy written by Col. Pierce, which showed Lydia among the descendants, and said she was living in 1850. The book was written about 1850 or so, at which time genealogists were not concerned about proof of pre-American heritage as they are today. He devoted a good portion of the first part of the book to a discussion of the "Hot Spots" theory, claiming they were descendants of the Indians. That is highly unlikely. Furthermore, he was very wrong about the percentage of immigrant Germans (which Pearce is, I believe, mentioned above, was able to discover her correct parents in William Abbey, England. Said he wasn't sure about Richard Pearce's but it sure wasn't the Hot Spots. That is why I have a question mark by Bristol, Richard Pearce's supposed birthplace, and by the parents.

A good bit of the material on the Pearce chart was taken from the "Little Gorton Families" book, though not all. The author's husband (Anne's) are Richard Wilbur, Isaac Alington, and John (last name) (Anne's) John Wilby, John (last name) Wilby, their daughter Elizabeth Wilby, and her later husband, John Howard.

My 6-year old grand daughter, Miss Anne, can trace her ancestry back to the Mayflower for 15 generations, going through fathers only. Wonder how many people can say that? (We know there's a British mother.)

Many others (such as the Chalmers) on that sheet and on the Dodge sheet, were members of the same Plymouth band, but did not arrive on the Mayflower itself.

Status—Name Change

On January 1 of this year, your Motor Club announced a corporate name change to Amoco Motor Club. At that time, it was pointed out that this change was a part of an over-all corporate identity program that was formulated and is being implemented by our parent company—American Oil Company. All members are receiving new materials during their renewal month. By the end of 1972, all members will have the new materials and membership cards with the new name.

The change-over has been a smooth one. Law enforcement agencies are accepting both new and old arrest bond cards. These agencies were informed well in advance of the name change so that problems of non-acceptance could be avoided.

Those of you who have already received your 1972 renewal Member-Paks are aware of the fact that newly designed bumper and reward decals were enclosed. Additional decals are available if you need them for a second car or if you have traded cars. There is a "Request for Additional Materials" card in your Member-Pak which you may use for this purpose or, if you prefer, you may write to Amoco Motor Club, P. O. Box 127, DeKalb, Illinois 60115.

Currently, a new illuminated Motor Club sign is being installed at all of our Authorized Station locations. This sign will immediately identify the dealer if you wish to use the Check Cashing Benefit or if you are in need of Road or Towing Service. This new sign will be installed where the present "As You Travel" sign is located on the Torch and Oval pedestal. The "As You Travel" service which has helped motorists for the past decade is still available at all Authorized Station Dealers.

We look forward to continuing to serve you.

Yours truly,

Many Errors!

PERCY, PERCE, PEARCY, PEARCE, PEIRCE, &c.,
IN RHODE ISLAND, 1650-1700.

DURING the latter half of the 17th century, at least four Freemen, heads of families, of the above names, were to be found in the colony of Rhode Island. They were:

- I. HENRY PEARCY, of Portsmouth.
- ✓ II. RICHARD PEARCE, of Portsmouth.
- III. JOHN PEARCE (mason) of Portsmouth.
- IV. EPHRAIM PEIRCE, of Warwick;

and it is not known that these men were in any way related to each other, although from the sameness of Christian names in the descendants of the last two, they may have had a common ancestor.

I. HENRY PEARCY, as he persisted in having his name spelt, was at Portsmouth as early as 1653, as in that year he bought lands of George Parker. [Portsmouth Records]. (Ignore us to here)

February 12, 1654, he bought a house and 12 acres of land of William James. The deed was witnessed by ✓ Richard Pearce, which is the earliest record of Richard. It is hardly possible that with the known purchases of property made by Henry Percy prior to 1655, he should not have been by that year a freeman of the town and colony, and it is thought that the name "Henrie ———," page 300, Vol. 1, R. I. Colonial Records, should be Henrie Percy.

Some of this is correct - and some not

Nov. 2, 1658, he was a member of the General Assembly at Warwick.

June 6, 1659, he was chosen constable for the year, and was also ordered to take up what "lickers" come into town.

June 4, 1660, he was chosen constable for the year.

June 3, 1661, he was chosen constable for the year, and also surveyor "for wine and strong waters."

May 12, 1662, his bill of charges on account of William Barker, deceased, was ordered to be paid, and he was also chosen constable for the year.

Oct. 12, 1664, he was chosen petit jurymen.

June 5, 1665, he was chosen constable for the year.

June —, 1666, he was chosen constable for the year.

Between June, 1666, and the spring, probably, of 1667, he moved to New Jersey, to the Monmouth County Settlements, and resided at Portland Point, near what is now the Highlands of Neversink. In December, 1667, at the first General Assembly of the inhabitants of these new settlements, he was elected an official for Portland Point. It is not known that he was ever married, and no records of the kind are to be found at Portsmouth. He may have had a family in New Jersey.

✓ II. RICHARD PEARCE was at Portsmouth as early as 1654, when, as stated above, he was a witness to a deed of 12 acres of land and a house, purchased of William James by Henry Percy.

Jan. 14, 1657, he was a witness to a deed.

June 8, 1657, he was chosen surveyor of marks of all "cattell that goe" from this town.

Jan. 11, 1658, he was a witness to a will.

May 18, 1658, he was admitted a freeman of the colony from Portsmouth.

March 16, 1666, he bought 2 acres, 7 rods of land, of Jacob Cole.

—, 1669, he bought of Joseph Parker 14 acres of land in Portsmouth.

He married, probably, in 1642, Susanna, daughter of George Wright of Newport, who was probably of Salem, 1637, and of Newport, 1648, and who in 1649 stabbed one Walter Lettice, as Roger Williams writes to John Winthrop, Jr. (No. 11's father-in-law stayed in England.)

Richard Pearce is said, by tradition, to have been born in 1615, and his wife Susanna in 1620; also that he had a brother William born in 1613, who settled in Yarmouth, Mass.

His will was dated April 22, 1677, and was proved in Portsmouth, October 28, 1678. In it he states:

"IMPRIMIS: I do will and bequeath unto my eldest son
"Richard Pearce my now dwelling house and land and
"fencings, orchard and swamps, house and outhouses,
"with all appurtenances thereunto belonging. * * *

"My will is to give unto my son, John Pearce, one "shilling in silver, and unto my son Giles Pearce one shil"ling in silver, and unto my son James one shilling in sil"ver, and unto my son William one shilling in silver, and "unto my son George one shilling in silver, and unto my "son Jeremiah Pearce one shilling in silver, and unto my "four daughters one shilling apiece in silver, to be paid
"within six months after my decease if demanded by the "elder of them, and unto the younger when they come to
"full age according to law."

From this will, other Portsmouth records, and the publications of Col. E. W. Peirce, who had very exact information concerning the dates of birth and death of some of his children, the family of Richard Pearce is believed to have been as follows:

1. Richard, Jr., born probably 1643. Freeman of town of Portsmouth, April 28, 1669. Freeman of colony from Portsmouth, May 6, 1673. Was sole executor of his father's will. Sept. 10, 1691, Richard Pearce and Experience, his wife, of Bristol, sold 16 acres of land in Portsmouth to William Barrington for £48. He probably settled in Bristol just after the death of his father.
2. Martha, b. Sept. 13, 1645, died Feb. 4, 1744, aged 98 years, 5 months, 11 days.
3. John, b. Sept. 8, 1647, died in Tiverton, Dec. 5, 1707, aged 60 years, 2 months, 27 days. He was made a freeman of the town of Portsmouth, April 28, 1669, and of the colony from Portsmouth, May 2, 1671. In 1681 he made several purchases of lands in Pocassett, afterwards Tiverton. [State Records.] He probably settled in Pocassett about 1682-3, and was one of the incorporators of Tiverton. 1692 was ensign of militia in Tiverton, and moderator of its town meeting. 1705, married Mary, probably eldest child of Peter and Ann Tallman, of Portsmouth. Grave stone still legible, 188-. April 11, 1689, he sold lands in Pocassett to William Wodell, Jr.
Dec. 11, 1706, John Pearce, of Tiverton, sold lands in Portsmouth to Thomas Durfee.
4. Giles, born probably 1649, married April 13, 1676, Elizabeth Hall, of Portsmouth. Admitted freeman of town of Portsmouth, April 29, 1693, and of the colony, May 6, 1673. Ear-mark recorded in Portsmouth, July 5, 1673. One of the grantees of East Greenwich, May, 1677. February 20, 1678, bought of John and Susanna Tripp, $\frac{1}{4}$ part of a purchase right in Warwick. Moderator of town meeting in East Greenwich, 1690. Town Councilman of E. Greenwich, 1691. His will was dated November 15, 1698, and proved December 7, 1698, in East Greenwich. His first two children were born in Portsmouth, and his third in East Greenwich, May 29, 1682.

5. Jeremiah, born probably 1651, He may have been made a freeman of Newport, May 4, 1708.
6. Susanna, born Nov. 22, 1652, married Dec. 4, 1673, George Brownell, of Thomas and Ann, of Portsmouth, and died February, 1743, aged 90.
7. Mary, born May 6, 1654, died May 4, 1736, aged 82, m. Thomas Brownell, Jr., of Thomas and Ann, of Portsmouth.
8. James, born prob 1656. May have gone to New Jersey with Henry Percy, and may have been the James Percy named in the Freehold Records as a witness in 1676, and possibly the James Peirce who in New Jersey archives is stated, in a letter of May 23, 1683, as having purchased some 500 acres land of John Fenwicke at Cohansey. There was a James Pearce in Little Compton, 1748, who took the oath against bribery and corruption, who must then have been a very old man if the one we are considering.
9. William, born probably 1658. There was a William Pearce in Little Compton, 1748, who then took oath against bribery and corruption, but who may with James, above mentioned, have been a son of George, following.
10. A daughter, born probably 1660. Name not known.
11. George, born July 10, 1662, died Sept. 3, 1752, aged 90 years, 1 month, 28 days. Married April 7, 1687, Alice Hart, of Richard, of Portsmouth, and had Susanna, b. Aug. 21, 1688, and perhaps others, quite certainly George, Jr. He resided in Little Compton, and in 1696 sold lands to his brother-in-law, Richard Hart. There was a George Pearce and George Pearce, Jr., in Little Compton, 1748, who then took oath against bribery and corruption.

III. JOHN PEARCE [mason]. There is a tradition in this family, that the earliest settler in this country was named John, and that he came over about 1660 from Wales. In the proceedings of the town meeting held in Portsmouth, Jan. 5, 1666, is the following record:

"John Pearce, admitted this day, a free inhabitant of this town." He may have been one of the Baptist congregation of John Myles of Swansea, Mass., who were persecuted from Wales to Rehoboth, 1662-3, and from thence to Swansey, Plymouth colony, 1666-7. He was born probably in 1615. His trade was that of a mason, but he was not distinguished by that designation until John Pearce, son of Richard, had come of age, about 1668, and there were two of the name of John Pearce, inhabitants of the town.

Re: Lydia Wood

When I wrote this letter to Billie,
I had barely begun genealogy - had just no access to 1850 census to know G.G. Grandma Lydia (Pearce) Dodge's parents were born in NY, but managed to puzzle it out.
(beginner's luck) I found "Little Compton Families" in the Milw. Library & sent the attached to Billie & Allan.
She wrote that they had already come to the same conclusion & asked, "How did you do that so fast?"
Someone had answered her ad in Mohawk River which was at that time navigable to Rome/Putica NY area, with assistance of Western Inland Lock Navigation Co., incorporated 1791, before which time trip was much harder). By the time she m. Rev. Dwight Dodge in 1830 the Erie Canal had been operating half a dozen years (the first part built between Rome NY & Seneca River) ^{she} m. in Sempronius. Had children there, Locke, & Summer Hill.

First the coincidences. ① Though Mamma insists name is Pierce, it is spelled "Pearce" at least once (maybe twice counting a write-over) in Dodge family bible. ② A Stephen Pearce - #15 on the enclosed - evidently had a military grant of land for service in the Rev. war. Anyway in 1791 he moved from Little Compton Rhode Island to Oneida Co. ^{East} NY about 50 mi. from Sempronius. He took his son George Taylor Pearce (right age to be Lydia's father) BUT what do you make of #20 here - James Pearce, Stephen's first cousin (did he stay in Rhode Island? - born & died there). His daughter Lydia ③ was born about 1802 ④ not in Tiverton RI like the others. Where was she born? She ⑤ married a Dodge. She had mother and sister both named "Phebe" ⑥ the same name as our Lydia's oldest daughter, Phebe Keziah Dodge b 19 Oct 1831 in Summer Hill. Out of the same book I copied stuff on a Woodman ⑦ family which I'm not enclosing (from same town) many intermarriages between these two families ^(Woodmans & Pearces) occurred. A Constant Woodman b 1771 m. Irene (?) & they had son John who went with them. They settled in Madison Co - right in between Oneida & Cayuga counties. ⑧ He also had a sister named Lydia Woodman ⑨.

I read both your opinions. Don't be excited until you read the enclosed. Probably this is not our great-great grandmother - but could it be? There are just so many crazy coincidences it leaves me wondering. What do you think? I don't know what to think!

Anyway in 1791 he moved from Little Compton Rhode Island to Oneida Co. NY about 50 mi. ^{East} from Sempronius. He took his son George Taylor Pearce (right age to be Lydia's father) BUT what do you make of #20 here - James Pearce, Stephen's first cousin (did he stay in Rhode Island? - born & died there). His daughter Lydia ③ was born about 1802 ④ not in Tiverton RI like the others. Where was she born? She ⑤ married a Dodge. She had mother and sister both named "Phebe" ⑥ the same name as our Lydia's oldest daughter, Phebe Keziah Dodge b 19 Oct 1831 in Summer Hill. Out of the same book I copied stuff on a Woodman family which I'm not enclosing (from same town) many intermarriages between these two families occurred. ^(Woodman & Pearce) A Constant Woodman b 1771 m. Irene (?) & they had son John who went with them. They settled in Madison Co - right in between Oneida & Cayuga counties. ⑧ He also had a sister named Lydia Woodman. ⑨

Do you think this is all coincidence? Nine coincidences?

One problem: IF this is our Lydia, how come she was born in Schoharrie, NY? Did her father + mother ^{+ siblings} go to Paris Hill, Oneida County, NY? (Paris Hill probably was around or West of present Utica, NY) Did Phebe have her baby on the trip, going back (or maybe coming?) I think on way back because it was October. Did they change their minds + decide it was too wild, to settle there in 1802? Schoharrie is So. of Mohawk R. - not on it. Schoharrie River is tributary.

From all appearances these families were extremely close-knit which you will notice in reading the enclosed. ^{if you look at a RI map you will see why - they are isolated} As for last name change, how about the author - Benjamin Franklin Wilbour? He is obviously descended from the Wilbore family which intermarried with Pearces + is another of the Little Compton families. ^{changes in spelling, common back then} By the way, Dodge is not one of the L.C. families.

Lydia Pearce's father died ^{in 1820 July} when she was ^{almost} 18 - 8th of 10 kids.

Did she then go to New York (if not before?)? With no father to support the family (maybe he had been ill a while) and with her cousins in New York probably needing all the help they could get, it would be natural for her to go. ^{Perhaps a brother or so went also - needed new land.} Little Compton RI is beside the water, so they probably traveled mostly by boat. Books I have read state that a lot Rhode Islanders went to New York - starting during the Rev. War when the British occupied Rhode Island for a few years. Of course the first ones didn't go so far Upstate. They were running short of land for new farms, + old ones not large enough to divide for their sons.

I have not mentioned this to the folks. No use them getting excited if it is the wrong Lydia.

Hope Allan is feeling better. Hope the family is doing well. PLEASE drop me a note or card soon saying what you think. Any suggestions?

Much love!

Donna

P.S. I've just thought of a reason to be in Schoharrie! An article I read said river current was treacherous around the turn where the Mohawk joins the Hudson + in the early days many people took ox teams instead of the river for about 16 miles. If the Pearces decided to circumvent the area altogether they could go overland from Schoharrie to the Hudson Riv. a longer wagon ride but safer. See back, "Cayuga County, New York" by Sturges written 1879 Rev 974.7 5885 it says you can cut it (Page 41)

Billie's amazed reply, "How did you do that so quickly?" made me very elated! Her exhibits in reply follow.

Dear Billie,

In reference to your quest for information on page 125 of the Mar.-Apr. 1990 "Genealogical Helper"; I may be of assistance with more detailed information on Pearce, Woodman, White, and Wilbur. These four families are all listed in my book "Little Empton Families" by B.F. Wilbur of Little Empton R.D.

This Pearce (Pierce) family goes back to Richard Pearce: with my line as follows: Susannah Wright

1. Richard (1615-1678) m.
2. George (1662-1752) m. Alice Hart
3. James (1691-1753) m. Martha Wilbur
4. James (1719-1767) m. Sarah Simmons
5. Ezekiel (1760-1838) m. Sarah Pearce
6. Mary (1796-1866) m. George R. Brownell

Sarah and Ezekiel were third Cousins, both descended from Richard. Ezekiel was a Revolutionary War Veteran and migrated to Oneida Co. New York, in 1790, from Rhode Island. I should mention that the spelling of the name appears to change from R.D. (Pearce) to N.Y. Pierce.

I was able to find three Pearce-Woodman marriages

1. William⁴ Pearce (James³, George², Richard¹)
m. 1735 Elizabeth Woodman
2. George⁴ Pearce (James³, George², Richard¹)
m. 1750 Deborah Woodman } Not Sisters;
m. 1762 Priscilla Woodman } Cousins
3. Val⁴ Pearce (Nathaniel³, Nathaniel², George¹)
m. 1821 Elizabeth Woodman

I find a Lydia⁵ Woodman (b. 1773), who married a John Wood. She was dau. of John Woodman (John⁴, Sylvester³, John², John¹)
LOVER

There was a Lydia Pearce listed in my book L.C.F. on page 475 who was daughter of James Pearce, (⁴Giles, ³James, ²George, Richard). there were no birth dates, only that she married a Dodge. Her father (1755-1820) married Phoebe Wood (1783) and resided in Little Compton R.I. Births of 10 children are recorded in Tricent R.I. The birth date range from 1786 to 1807. Lydia No. 8 was between Desire No. 7 (1800) and Abel No. 9 (1805). This is the correct time frame.

I'm including two charts showing the complicating relationships for Rhode Island families in the first 150 years. Also, my wife and I are seventh cousins, with common my former ancestors.

Yours sincerely,

P.S. The White family in my book goes back to Peregrine, who was born on the Mayflower.

EARLY HISTORY OF THE TOWN

The Dodge children were well educated.

The five-square-mile area in New York State which ultimately became Summer Hill was without that name for 148 years. It was a part of sprawling Albany County when Albany County was mapped in 1683 as one of 10 original counties in the state. Summer Hill became a part of Tryon County, later named Montgomery County when Albany County subdivided in 1772. The Summer Hill section of Montgomery County became part of Herkimer County 19 years later and a part of Onondaga County when that county was formed in 1794. Five years later, Cayuga County formed from Onondaga County and took Summer Hill with it. Thus, in 1799 Summer Hill was closer to its present identity, but it was embraced by a township called Milton. In 1802 Locke township split from Milton township and included the lands of Summer Hill. Finally, on April 26, 1831, an act of the Legislature of New York created a town called Plato, but the name was not popular and officially on March 16, 1832, the name was changed to Summer Hill.

Prior to 1831 the area made some significant history. Hezekiah Mix, the first resident, moved onto Lot No. 37 of a Revolutionary War grant; he established his home in 1797 in the vicinity of what later was Summer Hill Village. Millard Fillmore, the 13th President of the United States, was born in a log cabin in the eastern part of Summer Hill in 1800. Nathaniel Fillmore, Millard's father, taught the first school in 1804. Joseph Cone established the first inn. Charles Crane operated the first store. Ebenezer Bennett built the first saw mill. Ebenezer Crowl and Rosanna Mix were the first residents to marry. The first death occurred when Amos Mix was killed in 1798 by a falling tree. The Freewill Baptist Church of Lickville organized in 1807, the Baptist Church of Christ in Locke in 1818, and the East Congregational Society of Locke in 1827.

It was not surprising that pioneers liked the south-eastern corner of Cayuga County. The surface was pleasantly upland, 1,200 to 1,800 feet above sea level. A modest stream, Fall Creek, flowing south into a pond and exiting into an outlet eventually reached Ithaca, Tompkins County, and emptied into Cayuga Lake. The soil, a clay and gravelly loam, was fertile and suited to pasturing sheep and growing flax, products necessary to early settlers. Forests supplied timber in abundance for corrugated roads, charcoal, and home heating.

Schools: 1832 - 1953

School Commissioners Isaac Honeywell, Tolbert Powers, and Joel Hough met in September 1832 on two consecutive days at the home of Amos Curtiss to organize seven school districts and accept five to share with adjoining towns and retain the numbers of the districts by which they were known. In March of the next year, the commissioners reported to Winslow Hamblin, town clerk, on conditions in the 12 schools. Four hundred thirty-nine children between the ages of five and 16 were enrolled; cost per pupil was 41 cents, to the nearest cent. Seven years later, 426 pupils were enrolled in 13 schools; cost per pupil was 90 cents, including a new item, "library money," which approximated 17 cents per pupil.

FORMATION OF THE TOWNS.

quest, Otter Lake and Parker's Pond in Cato, and Summer Hill Lake, in the town of that name.

RIVERS.—Seneca is the principal river of the County. It receives the entire drainage of the immense water-sheds that drain into Canandaigua, Seneca, Cayuga and Skaneateles Lakes, and hence bears a large and, with the seasons, a greatly varying body of water. Besides the outlets of these lakes it receives, as has been shown, the principal drainage of Cayuga County in a multitude of streams, of which the larger are the Owasco Outlet, Cold Spring, Cayuga, Crane's, and Bread Creeks. The principal streams in the south part of the County are the Cayuga Inlet, having its source in the hills of Locke and Moravia, and the Big and Little Salmon Creeks, rising in the hills of Venice and Genoa, and flowing southerly.

FORMATION OF THE TOWNS.—A town of Aurelius was formed in the county of Ontario, by the Court of General Sessions of that county, January 27, 1789. This town, it should be remembered, was outside of the territorial limits of what afterwards became Onondaga and Cayuga Counties, and should not be confounded with the Aurelius in Cayuga County, which was one of the "Military Townships," formed January 27, 1789, but was enlarged by an act passed March 5th, 1794, "to divide the State into counties and towns," and described as containing "all the townships of Cato, Brutus and Aurelius and all of the reservation north of the town of Scipio and west to the center of Cayuga Lake. Auburn was formed from Aurelius, March 28th, 1823. Brutus and Cato, original military townships, but merged in Aurelius by the act of March 5, 1794, were detached and formed into separate townships on March 30, 1802; Conquest,* from Cato, March 16, 1821; Fleming, from Aurelius, March 28, 1823; Genoa, from the "Military Tract," as "Milton," January 27, 1789, name changed April 6, 1808; Ira, from Cato, March 16, 1821; Ledyard, from Scipio, January 30, 1823; Locke, from Milton, now Genoa, February 20, 1802; Mentz, from Aurelius, as Jefferson, March 30, 1802, name changed April 6, 1808; Montezuma, from Mentz, April 8, 1859; Moravia, from Sempronius, March 20, 1833; Niles, from Sempronius, March 20, 1833; Owasco, from Aurelius, March 30, 1802;

Scipio, from the Military Tract, March 5, 1794; Sempronius, from the Military Tract, March 9, 1799; Sennett,* from Brutus, March 19, 1827; Springport,† from Scipio, January 30, 1823; Sterling,‡ from Cato, June 19, 1812; Summer Hill, from Locke, as Plato, April 26, 1831, name changed March 16, 1832; Throop, from parts of Aurelius, Mentz and Sennett, April 8, 1859; Venice, from Scipio, January 30, 1823; Victory,§ from Cato, March 16, 1821.

TOPOGRAPHY OF THE TOWNS.—In the town of Sempronius is the highest land in the county, rising to the height of 1,700 feet above tide. The hills ascend sharply from the shores of Skaneateles Lake to a height above the valley, of from 800 to 1,000 feet. Deep valleys have been cut through the drift and shales in this town, by Mill, Swamp and Fall Brooks.

In Summer Hill, the surface lies from 1,000 to 1,100 feet above tide, and the valley of Fall Brook is from 300 to 400 feet below.

In Niles the highest elevation is 1470 feet above tide and 700 feet above Owasco Lake. The hills of Moravia rise between 300 and 400 feet above the flats and their sides are often steep and precipitous. The mean elevation of the hills of Locke, is about 1000 feet above tide, while they rise from 300 to 400 feet above the valleys, through which the Cayuga Inlet flows; but they spread out into fine undulating uplands. In Genoa, the highest land is 1000 feet above tide, and 670 above Cayuga Lake, from which it gradually rises. The ridges, running north and south through the town, are divided by the two valleys, through which flow the Big and Little Salmon Creeks; the ridges rising from 50 to 150 feet above them.

In Owasco, the land rises gradually from the lake to an extreme height of about 500 feet.

Scipio has a high rolling or level and generally feasible surface for cultivation, lying on the summit of its range of towns, the drainage from it being both to the north and south. It rises gradually about 500 feet above Owasco Lake at its town of Ledyard, and the first general election in the town of Whitestown, was held at the Cayuga Ferry. If the voters residing as far east as Utica came to Cayuga to vote, traversing over eighty miles of forest roads, they paid a full equivalent for the right.

The first settlement* within the present limits of Cayuga County was made in 1789, and the subsequent influx of emigrants into the County was very rapid. In 1800, twelve years after the first settler had fixed his home here, Cayuga County had 15,097 inhabitants, the accessions thus averaging for eleven years, over 1,200 per year; while Onondaga had then but 7,698.

The tendency of early emigration was, therefore, to the "lake region," the reputation of which for health and fertility, had been widely circulated by the officers and soldiers of Sullivan's army,† whose reports were confirmed by the subsequent surveyors and land seekers.

SITUATION.—Geographically this County lies about equi-distant from Albany on the east and Buffalo on the west. It is the easternmost of the lake counties, having Skaneateles Lake on its eastern boundary, Owasco Lake in the interior, and Cayuga Lake upon the west, with Lake Ontario on its northern boundary; the counties of Oswego, Onondaga and Cortland, bound it on the east, Tompkins on the south, and Seneca and Wayne on the west. It extends from north to south a distance of 55 miles, with an average breadth of about 14 miles, embracing an area of 760 square miles, exclusive of 160 square miles of the waters of Lake Ontario, or 486,400 acres.

GENERAL TOPOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTY.—The inclination and drainage of the County is in a general northerly direction; the table lands near the center of the town of Scipio, being the source of the principal streams which flow southerly through the towns of Venice and Genoa;

* Roswell Franklin, from Wyoming, was the first settler, locating at Aurora, in 1789. He had been in the battle of Wyoming, in which his wife was killed and one of his children taken captive by the Indians. He is said to have been so much depressed by his misfortunes, as to lead him to self-destruction.

† In the first address upon the subject of agriculture delivered in this County before an Agricultural Society, by Humphrey Howland, he stated that Sullivan's soldiers, in 1779, while destroying the immense mass of corn which they found growing and ripened, or ripening, in the Genesee Valley, were so impressed by the size and perfection of the ears, that they carried samples of them to their homes in their knapsacks, and thus widely advertised the fertility of the region.

but, with this exception, and a part of Sempronius and Summer Hill, the waters of the county are discharged into Lake Ontario.

SURFACE.—The surface of the county is, generally, susceptible of easy cultivation, being either flat, or its ascents gradual. The hills that border the valleys of the Salmon creeks in the towns of Venice and Genoa, and those in Niles, Moravia, Locke, Summer Hill and Sempronius, form the principal exceptions, the comparative elevations of which will be given in the "topography of the towns."

LAKES.—Lake Ontario, lying on the extreme northern boundary of the County, is 130 miles long and 55 miles wide. It is 232 feet above tide-water, and its greatest depth is 600 feet. The only harbor on this lake in the county, is Little Sodus, elsewhere fully described.*

The surface of this lake, as also of our other great lakes, is subject to variations of level, that of Lake Ontario varying about four and three-fourths feet between the extremes, and the period of variation extends through several years, caused, it is believed, by long prevailing winds and unequal amounts of rain and evaporation. Sudden and unaccountable variations of several feet in the level of the surface of this lake, have, at different times occurred and given rise to much speculation as to the cause.

Cayuga Lake, on the south-western border of the County is 387 feet above tide, 40 miles long, and at and above Aurora, exceeds three miles in width. Owasco is 770 feet above tide, has an extreme width of one and one-fourth miles and a length of ten and three-fourths miles. This lake receives the drainage of the eastern parts of the towns of Fleming, Scipio, Venice and Genoa, the whole of the surface of Moravia and Locke, the north-western part of Summer Hill, nearly two-thirds of Sempronius, and fully three-fourths of the town of Niles, the entire surface drained into the lake, being over 100,000 acres. hills?

Cross Lake, about five miles in length by one mile in breadth, is formed by the discharge of Seneca river into a shallow basin, out of which it flows, the lake receiving little other drainage. A large swamp borders this lake on the west, and another on the north.

Besides these larger lakes, there are Duck Lake and Mud Pond in the north-western part of Con-

The Military Tract from a map by Amos Lay, 1812

. Surface is hilly; soil clay and sandy loam, generally well cultivated; it is drained by Branch (sic) Creek and Cold Spring Creek - flowing into the Seneca River on the north; and the Erie Canal passes thru this town. Weedsport is the name of a post office and a village of some importance, situated on the Canal. "

This seems to be typical of the area.

(The Military Tract was organized to reward soldiers of the American Revolution, but many veterans sold their warrants to speculators for whatever was offered, others to people they knew--thus folks like our Dodges were able to buy.)

THE MILITARY TRACT

The Brutus-Weedsport area is part of that interesting section of state known as the Military Tract. This territory exerted so much influence on the future development of Central New York that it warrants inclusion in a local history narrative.

The Military Tract was a vast area of about 1.75 million acres located in the heartland of central New York. It extended roughly from Lake Ontario southward to the south end of Seneca Lake and from the east line of present Onondaga County westward to Seneca Lake. The present counties of Onondaga, Cortland, Cayuga and Seneca were included as were parts of Oswego, Schuyler, Tompkins, Yates and Wayne. The Military Tract was established by the New York State Legislature on 16 September, 1776. It did not become Onondaga County until 5 March 1794.

Earlier the Continental Congress passed resolutions calling for the raising of 88 regiments of troops among the colonies. New York's quota, based on population, was four regiments but as late as March 1781 only two regiments had been activated. New York argued that since its militia was maintaining the Mohawk frontier it was fulfilling its obligation. However, pressure was exerted and on March 20, 1781 the legislature passed the proper laws and two more regiments were authorized. These troops became known as the New York Line and were enlisted for three years.

✓ The Continental Congress guaranteed every man fighting in the Revolution a bounty of 100 acres of land from the public domain. Since the State of New York had a vast surplus of land and a need for two regiments of military men it decided to add 500 acres to the Colonial 100, and thus did arrive at the somewhat odd figure of 600 acres in its military lot.

KEY TO LISTINGS

The accompanying data contains five items of information. First, all names are listed alphabetically by surname. Standard abbreviations have been used for titles of colonel (col), governor (gov), widow (wid or wd), and esquire (esq). All references to junior and senior were standardized to jr and sr, respectively. Original spellings of names as shown in the manuscript were maintained in spite of obvious misspellings.

The second item of information is the town of residence in 1782.

The third item specifies the purpose of the census or tax list. Therefore, the two alphabetical letters following the town of residence are abbreviations for the following:

HS = Household Size	TE = Taxable Estate
HM = Household Member	EV = Estate Valuation

The four columns following HS, EV, or TE assigns a numerical value for each household head. For example, all numbers after EV refer to the value of the person's estate in the English monetary term of pounds; whereas, a number after TE designates shillings of tax owed. The figure following HS indicates the number of people in that household. No number follows HM since that person is already counted in another household.

Whenever the purpose of the census is to designate the household size (HS), item four categorizes the household into age and racial groups and shows the number in each group. For minority groups whose total exceeds 9 people, alphabetical characters are used. The classification is as follows:

Column	Whites	Column	Minorities
1	males age 0-15	10	Indians
2	females age 0-15	11	Mulattoes
3	males age 16-21	12	Blacks
4	females age 16-21	When total in columns 10-12 exceeds 9, then A=10, B=11, C=12, D=13, E=14, F=15, G=16, H=17, I=18, J=19, K=20, L=21, M=22, N=23, O=24
5	males age 22-49
6	females age 22-49
7	males age 50 and up
8	females age 50 and up
9	blank column

Fifth, and in the last columns is the source reference. The first six characters are a key field using town or author surname letters and the year of the record. These characters facilitate identification of the source in the bibliography section. Finally, the digits following the colon refer to the page number of the specified document.

It seems that our many-great grandpa James Pearce is not one of those listed,
though he was in New York a year or so later -
there was Lydia was born in Schoharie.

Stephen Pearce,
his cousin, a
Rev. War Captain, with wife and 4 children,
was arrested
in the Military Tract, sent away
for Rev War vets
in Paris,
Oneida Co. NY (shown how we Otego Co.)

Undoubtedly he set an example for his
kin. As well as being an overworked little place, Rhode Island had suffered much damage during the Rev. War!

Maybe they did spell it Pierce is New York for some reason.
 Many great grandpo James Pierce died 22 July 1820, before the census taken came around.
 Grandma Phoebe is shown as a widow, on same page as son Giles. In Sempronius, Cayuga
 Co, in the military tract.

o Dwight Dodge, whom Lydia married that Dec. had wife + 3 children ^{at home} when census taken. His wife, Susan Monroe, died later in childbirth complications - had baby Lydia. Lydia Pearce cared for her during her illness. Soon after she married him - needed mother for children.

* "Giles" hard to read on film - also resembled "Files" and even "Silas".

If Giles mother, widow Phebe Wood Pearce, went to live with him in New York, she would be the female aged 60-70. Lydia, who married that December to Dwight Dodge above, would be female aged 20-30 and sister Phebe who m. in 1833 the other. He + wife Content Hall would be 30-40. There would be 3 young boys + 2 little girls.

+ Lydia had brothers John, Giles, George + Abel. This shows Giles + George.

PEARCE FAMILY LINES

I had beginner's luck with this line. The good Dodge Bible records give Lydia's correct birthdate and say she was born in Schoharrie, NY. Had thought maybe she was German because of that, but through reading history books found that during the Revolutionary War and the next several years, Schoharrie was flooded by people from Rhode Island, occasioned by British occupation during the war as a good naval base. People fled to New York to escape.

Thought what the heck, so started looking for Pearces in Rhode Island. (Or actually Pierce, which is how many of them spelled it in New York.) The Dodge Bible said Pearce, which made Mamma indignant. Someone had impressed upon her that it was really Pierce! It was not long before I came upon the meticulous and interesting book, "Little Compton Families" by B. F. Wilbour, and got all excited. (In fact I now have the book.) It showed a Lydia Pearce about our Lydia's age whose mother was Phebe Wood (our Lydia had a daughter Phebe Dodge) and half a dozen other coincidences including that she married a Mr. Dodge, but no more details, and showed that some of her relatives migrated to New York State.

I got all shook up and quickly dashed a Xerox copy off to Billie, along with a stamped postcard so she would answer soon. Her reply was an amazed, "How did you do that so soon?" Seems she and Allan had already reached the same conclusion, but the hard way, going through vital statistics, etc. A Missouri census report they saw (at that time I had no access to census reports) showed that Lydia said her parents were born in Rhode Island.

Of course my good luck at that stage was luck rather than expertise. I did then find a Pearce genealogy written by Col. Pierce, which showed Lydia among the descendants, and said she was living in Kingston, MC. The book was written about 1880 or so, at which time genealogists were not concerned about proof of pre-American heritage as they are today. He devoted a good portion of the first part of the book to discussion of the "Hot Spurs" Percys, claiming they were progenitors of the Pearces. That is highly unlikely. Furthermore, he was very wrong about the parentage of immigrant Susanna (Wright) Pearce. B.F. Wilbour, mentioned above, was able to discover her correct parents in Waltham Abbey, England. Said he wasn't sure about Richard Pearce's but it sure wasn't the Hot Spurs. That is why I have ? question mark by Bristol, Richard Pearce's supposed birthplace, and by the parents.

A good bit of the material on the Pearce chart was taken from the "Little Compton Families" book, though not all. The Mayflower Ancestors (Sheet #4) are Richard Warren, Isaac Allerton, Mary Norris, Mary Allerton, John Tilley, Joan (Hurst)(Rogers) Tilley, their daughter Elizabeth Tilley, and her later husband, John Howland.

My 6-year old grand daughter, Elise Gruna, can trace her ancestry back to the Mayflower for 15 generations, going through mothers only. Wonder how many people can say that? (We know Hurst's English mother.)

Many others (such as the Cushmans) on that sheet and on the Dodge Chart were members of the same Pilgrim band, but did not arrive on the Mayflower itself.

Seneca & Seneca

Long before the discovery of ~~North America~~ ~~or perhaps a thousand years~~ the Iroquois tribes dwelt in the Finger Lakes region of New York. Their spouses cultivated ~~fields~~ fertile gardens. Unlucky for them they ~~could~~ continued to support the English after the Revolutionary war broke out. General Sullivan's army set fire to the whole area. Those still living raided Schoharie and Cherry Valley for food, then finally wound up in Canada.
Continental Congress set the area aside for veterans of the war, eventually surveying square plots (but ignoring gageons and such, best lots to veterans, mostly New Englanders. The earliest families began arriving about 1835.

Perhaps James and Phoebe Perce owned the then soon after. His sister Lydia (Perce) Brown - Mrs William Brown. She died the 24 May 1826.. Phoebe's sister, Hannah (Wood) Dorfee (Mrs Gilbert Dorfee) that she lived wood in Michigan. Seneca was a real large area that it was then covering most of the SE part of Cayuga County. The land was elevated, sloping toward the east but quite fertile.

James Pearce d. 22 July 1820 at Sempronius NY. The court hearing was the dazing October 1820 - see Will.

I purchased a copy of the will of great-great Grandpa
James Pearce (Pierce) will to help prove my Daughters of the American Revolution ancestry. Reading it shows that it was a man's world back then! Sons inherited land or enough money to buy land. Unmarried daughters got beds + bedding and "a comfortable part of the house" to stay in. Beloved wife Phebe Pierce to be well carried for by son Giles, who inherited the estate.

Four eldest + settled daughters + son John were to receive $1⁰⁰ each (with pretty much back then) The daughters were Deborah Dennison, Sally Vagner, + Susannah Tripp.
Son George was to receive $150⁰⁰ within 2 years (for land).
Youngest son Abel was to receive $150⁰⁰ at age 21.

The three unmarried daughters Desire (age 20) (m Giles' son)
Lydia age 18 ~~and~~ Phebe 12½ were to receive comfortable beds + bedding and a comfortable place to stay. They all married eventually. Their mother died there in 1842, in Giles' household from his father. After that Giles +
his family moved to Ohio.

Dear Ms. Zaniewski:

Thank you for the research fee that you have sent regarding research on your Pearce family.

Enclosed is a copy of the will and petition of James Pierce (Surrogate Court record - liber B page 114) which named his widow, Phebe and his children, including a Lydia.

We do not find any probate record for Phebe. The only other record to confirm that Lydia Dodge and Lydia Pierce was the same person would be if there was a final land selling of the estate of James Pierce. We have checked the land records through 1850, but do not find any record.

If we can be of further assistance, please let us know.

Sincerely,

Thomas G. Eldred

In the name of God, Amen. WRIGHT OF WALTHAM ABBEY, ESSEX

Further study of appropriate probate records may reveal information on the ancestry of John^A Wright.

1. JOHN^A WRIGHT, born perhaps about 1600, was probably the one buried at Waltham Abbey, Essex, England, 5 July 1643, as the "children of John Wright" were mentioned in his wife's father's will, proved in 1646 [Wilbour].

He married in Waltham Abbey, 22 April 1624, MARY^A DELL*, who was buried there 23 Feb. 1637/8.

He was apparently from "Surestone" (Sewardstone) in the parish of Waltham Holy Cross, Essex. Their marriage license [see Foster's London Marriage Licenses, 1521-1869] described him as of Waltham Abbey, Essex, yeoman.

Children, recorded at Waltham Abbey:

- i. John¹, bapt. 20 Feb. 1624/5; bur. 30 Sept. 1626.
- ii. Amy, bur. 4 June 1638.
- * iii. Susannah, bapt. 5 August 1627; m. 5 May 1642 Richard¹ Pearce.
- iv. Elyn, bur. 5 Nov. 1632.
- v. Ann, bapt. 29 August 1633.
- vi. Ralph, bapt. 26 Sept. 1635.
- vii. Henry, bapt. 16 May 1637.

I grew up in the Kingston area and have many happy memories there. Recently I applied for membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution and they asked for a lot of documentation which, hopefully, you can ^{help me} provide in spite of the courthouse fire. They asked for

- ① Marriage record of Lemuel Dean and Emma Adelia Dodge in Kingston on 31 January 1860
- ② Marriage record of William Wesley White and Mary Lydia Dean on 15 March 1898
- ③ Death record of Dargot Dodge on 23 August 1869
- ④ " " Lydia W (Pearce) Dodge 04 August 1881
- ⑤ Death " of Emma A. (Dodge) Dean on 31 Jan 1932
- ⑥ " " Lemuel Dean in 1883. ^(niece) (I do not know what with that was, but there may be probate records due to litigation over his assets, and listing his descendants. I would appreciate receiving a copy of the court record - or highlights if too long.)
- ⑦ Death record of Mary Lydia (Dean) White who died 19 Nov. 1953, living in Hamilton, buried in Kingston
- ⑧ Death record of William Wesley White who died 23 December 1963, living in Hamilton, buried in Kingston.

For reasons of health I cannot come there now in person, but will be extremely grateful for your help. I am enclosing a check for $60⁰⁰, not knowing the correct amount. If more is needed, let me know. Thanks again!

The county of Schoharie was formed from Albany and Otsego, April 6, 1795. A small part of Greene was annexed in 1836. The six original towns as shown by the above map were: Schoharie, Middletown, Bristol, Blenheim, Cobleskill and Sharon. In 1801 Middletown was changed to Middleburgh, and in 1808, Bristol to Broome in honor of Lieutenant Governor Broome. By an act of Legislature passed on April 2, 1801 the boundaries of Schoharie County were established.

At present there are sixteen towns in the county, the names of which with the dates of their foundation, together with the towns whom which each was taken, are as follows:

Schoharie, formed Mar. 17, 1797, from Schoharie, Albany County.

Broome, as Bristol, formed Mar. 17, 1797, from Schoharie.

Blenheim, formed Mar. 17, 1807

County's Attraction

idealized reproduction of the Gilboa area showing three levels or planes at which the fossilized stumps of trees were found.

The Schoharie Creek occupies the center foreground, with its tributary, the Manorkill, joining it at its left in a series of falls. Looking across and beyond this, one sees the painted restoration of our vision of the forest, as it might have been at the height of its beauty. A few trees of the so-called giant club mosses are seen mingled with the seed-fern-trees in the forest. At both sides of the painting are life size restorations of the Gilboa trees merging imperceptibly into the painting. The photographic illustration accompanying this article was taken by James A. Glenn and used by permission of the State Museum.

The restoration was executed by Henri Marchand, noted French artist and his two sons, Georges and Paul, under the supervision of Miss Winifred Goldring, associate paleontologist, New York State Museum. Miss Goldring is undoubtedly the highest authority on the Gilboa discoveries and was most active in her studies during the excavations for the construction of the New York city reservoir in 1921.

A great field for the study of geology, presents itself in the opportunities which Schoharie County affords, and it is hoped that the social studies teachers of the vocational training directors in the schools of our county will point out the possibilities to be reached by those young students who are serious and not mere hobbyists along geological lines. A study of geology might lead to gemology, mineralogy, metallurgy, or mining engineering, all highly remunerative vocations.

This is the tenth year of the publication of our Quarterly Bulletin. Several back numbers are available and may be purchased by writing the treasurer, Myron Vroman. The historical facts that have been published in these Bulletins from time to time have required much research on the part of the writers and are well worth keeping.

Dear Ms. Zaniewski:

Thank you for the research fee that you have sent regarding research on your Pearce family.

Enclosed is a copy of the will and petition of James Pierce (Surrogate Court record - liber B page 114) which named his widow, Phebe and his children, including a Lydia.

We do not find any probate record for Phebe. The only other record to confirm that Lydia Dodge and Lydia Pierce was the same person would be if there was a final land selling of the estate of James Pierce. We have checked the land records through 1850, but do not find any record.

If we can be of further assistance, please let us know.

Sincerely,

WRIGHT OF HORNCastle, LINCOLNSHIRE

The outline of this family is based on a report dated 17 May 1994 from Michael J. Wood of London, which related primarily to the Hatton family. Of course further research is indicated.

1. JOHN^C WRIGHT, born in Lincolnshire about 1794, was listed as aged 45-49 in the 1841 census of New Place, Horncastle, Lincs., England.

His wife Ann [mc] census, HO107/637/12, f. 5b & 6], was also born in Lincolnshire about 1794.

He was a sawyer.

Children, the first presumed to be a member of this family based on her father's name [mc] and proximity, with the rest listed from the 1841 census, all born in Lincolnshire:

- * i. Mary^B, b. Horncastle, Lincs., c. 1812; m. (1) c. 1828 River Jordan^B Hatton, m. (2) Horncastle 18 April 1852 George Sawyer.
- ii. William, b. c. 1824.
- iii. Elizabeth, b. c. 1826.
- iv. Richard, b. c. 1828.
- v. Henry, b. c. 1833.
- vi. George, b. c. 1835.

WRIGHT OF WALTHAM ABBEY, ESSEX

Further study of appropriate probate records may reveal information on the ancestry of John^A Wright.

1. JOHN^A WRIGHT, born perhaps about 1600, was probably the one buried at Waltham Abbey, Essex, England, 5 July 1643, as the "children of John Wright" were mentioned in his wife's father's will, proved in 1646 [Wilbour].

He married in Waltham Abbey, 22 April 1624, MARY^A DELL*, who was buried there 23 Feb. 1637/8.

He was apparently from "Surestone" (Sewardstone) in the parish of Waltham Holy Cross, Essex. Their marriage license [see Foster's London Marriage Licenses, 1521-1869] described him as of Waltham Abbey, Essex, yeoman.

Children, recorded at Waltham Abbey:

- i. John¹, bapt. 20 Feb. 1624/5; bur. 30 Sept. 1626.
- ii. Amy, bur. 4 June 1638.
- * iii. Susannah, bapt. 5 August 1627; m. 5 May 1642 Richard¹ Pearee. ✓
- iv. Elyn, bur. 5 Nov. 1632.
- v. Ann, bapt. 29 August 1633.
- vi. Ralph, bapt. 26 Sept. 1635.
- vii. Henry, bapt. 16 May 1637.

A copy of that book is included in our Pease binder, but please be aware that the entire first ~~chapter~~ ^{is devoted to} the ~~Pease~~ ^{Pease} story ~~of~~ ^{by Pease} within England "traced back to 972," declared to be ~~progenitors~~ ^{using a} different spelling, ~~is possibly~~ ^{That is pure hogwash!}

The beginning of the second chapter, "The American Branch" is also flawed. Ignore the first page (36) and start of page 37.

~~Our~~ Our first American progenitor, Richard Pease was not from Bristol in Weston England, but probably ~~in~~ from the vicinity of Waltham Abbey, ~~in Essex~~ on the northern outskirts of London in Essex County, where ~~he was~~ he was married. ~~He did not have~~ ^{The main} ~~brother~~ ^{brother}, Captain William Pease of Boston was not related to him.

And his wife, our ancestress Susanne Wright was no kin to the ^{personnel} George Wright of Newport Rhode Island, said to have started a certain Water Lot (page 38). Otherwise I have not checked for errors, for the Vital Records of Rhode Island have long been in print, and the author evidently got much of the later information by correspondence with later Pease kin, many of them probably his clerks.

I grew up ~~hearing family lore~~ ^{hearing} ~~about~~ ^{listening to} my Grandma talking about ~~adventures~~ of her own Grandmother, Lydia Warren (Peera) Dodge and other family lin. ~~in old~~ ^{when I believe} ~~she~~ ^{was} an elderly widow, Lydia lived with her youngest daughter, ~~Anna~~ ^{Emma} (Dodge) Dennis family, including little Mary ~~Ann~~, who ~~adored~~ ^{loved} her. ~~In those days~~ Back the registration of births was not obligatory; but ~~the~~ ^{the} child's father, being a judge, considered it to be a good idea. ~~So she~~ When Mary was four years old her parents asked her if she wanted to choose a middle name. She said "I want to be ~~called~~ named Lydia for my grandmother." ~~Grandma~~ Lydia must have been quite a talker, for she ~~told many~~ ^{told Mary's head with} stories of life in New York State, ~~before they migrated to Missouri.~~ ~~Those tales were repeated for many times~~ ^{passed along} to us by our own Grandmother. Some of ~~the~~ then will be passed along in this short story ~~if anything was~~
She probably ~~told something about the~~ ^{told something about the} ~~English~~ ^{English} ~~they~~ ^{they} got to New York State, but those of us still living ~~do~~ ^{do} not remember it by the time
~~my sister, brother and I started digging for our roots.~~

The ~~years~~ following the American Revolution were hectic as folks moving west worked so hard tanning the wilderness had little time for anything else. A few genealogies were written before the Civil War, especially by people back east, but records were not easy of access ~~that early~~.
by the ordinary ~~the~~ public that soon. ~~The Centennial of the War~~
The centennial of the Revolutionary War got ordinary folks interested in finding out whom their ancestors were. ~~People~~ People of means started consulting professional genealogists to search the records for them.

~~The Peeras and tallies~~ Some of these people dug up or created fabulous origins to ~~to~~ ^{to} tickle the vanity of clients with fat purses. The Peeras were taken ^{advantage of} by one of the smoothest fellows, Col. Frederick C. Peera, in ~~Peera~~ ^{Peera} Genealogy of 1888.

Grandma was our family historian. I grew up hearing her talk about the life of her own maternal grandmother, Lydia Woodman (Pearce) Dodge and other kinfolk. ~~It was not~~ Registering births was not legally necessary in 1873, when ~~she~~^{Grandma} was four, but her Pa, Judge Lemuel Denn, considered it a good idea. They asked her, "Mary, ~~what~~ would you like to choose a middle name?" "Yes," said the child. "I would like to be named 'Lydia' like my Grandma." The aged widowed grandmother was then part of the Denn household.

Lydia must have been quite a talker, for she filled Mary's head with ~~facts~~^{tales} about life back in New York State ~~and the~~ before they moved to Ringtown, Missouri back in 1845. Some of these will be passed on later in this short Aunt Pearce story.

My sister Billie and I grew up and moved far away, and ~~had~~^{grown} ~~children~~ of our own and, with our brother James, became ~~involved~~ in our roots.

Attention: Very Early Wills and Vital Records Division

I hope you can help me locate some very old records, probably in some archive. None of the "experts" in Wisconsin know exactly the right place to write to. If the City Hall doesn't have these records, could you please turn this over to whoever does? I am enclosing a check for $40.00. If it isn't enough, please let me know, and more will be sent. The following documentation is needed:

1. Proof of the marriage of James Pearce to Phebe Wood -said to be on 03 July 1783.
2. Copy of the will of Phebe's father, (Lt.) George Wood, said to be in Little Compton Wills, Book 5, page 188. (Made on 13 Dec. 1815 and proved 10 July 1820.) I need to prove George was Phebe (Wood) Pearce's father.
3. Birth of Phebe Wood -said to be 09 May 1763.
4. Birth of James Pearce, son of Giles, said to be 15 August 1755.
5. Marriage record of James' parents, Giles Pearce and Mercy (Rouse) Schreech (widow of Tetamon Schreech or Schruch or Screech). The date was given as 23 August 1744.

I will be ever so grateful for your kindness in this matter.

Sincerely

Norma Zaniewski

Check enclosed.
